Both Sides Ready For Major Battle On Steel Seizure

WASHINGTON, May 10—(AP)—The steel industry and the government squared off today in the great constitutional battle over President Truman's seizure of the nation's eight billion dollar steel industry to prevent a strike.

The two antagonists formally presented the Supreme Court with thick legal briefs bristling with arguments each side hoped will convince the nine high court justices.

The CIO Steelworkers, all but lost in the court battle but with a vital interest in the outcome, gave the court their version of the legal issue: That their futile wage talks with the industry were a "sham"; that the real fight is over how much of a price increase the government would grant the industry to offset higher pay.

Brief Hotly Worded

The industry contended seizure was "wholly illegal and wholly unconstitutional." Its brief said the government was attempting to impose "compulsory arbitration under force of seizure"; that it was trying to settle a labor dispute by "executive fiat"; and that it bypassed a special law—the Taft-Hartley Act—which Congress had intended for deadlocked labor disputes.

The nub of the argument made by the Justice Department for the administration is this:

The President "brought to solution of the emergency the sum of his powers' and that these powers, set forth in the constitution, are a "grant of all the executive powers of which the government is capable."

The constitution, the department brief said, contains "ample authority to sustain the President's action," despite the lack of a specific seizure law.

Pine Favored Industry

The President seized the steel mills the night of April 8, shortly before a scheduled strike by 650,000 steelworkers. On April 29, Judge David A. Pine of Federal District Court ruled the seizure "illegal and without authority of law." On May 3, the Supreme Court postponed the effect of Pine's order until it settles the question. It also banned the government from raising wages in the interim.

Oral arguments expanding on the printed briefs are scheduled for Monday afternoon.

Court To Hear Seizure Pleas By Rail Unions

WASHINGTON, May 10—(AP)—Three big railroad unions today won the right to tell the Supreme Court how issues in the steel industry seizure case affect President Truman's 1950 seizure of the railroads.

The high tribunal in an unsigned order late in the day granted union attorneys an hour to present arguments, after the justices hear five hours of legal debate in the steel case.

This means that the justices likely will spend Monday and Tuesday afternoons, at least, listening to arguments on the President's disputed authority to seize private industry.

The railroad unions, in an appeal filed with the Supreme Court today, asasiled Presidential seizure of the railroads and the steel industry. They asked the court to grant a hearing on their appeal and then to do these things:

1. Declare unconstitutional the 1950 railroad seizure, accomplished under a World War I law applicable only to transportation systems and not under the claimed inherent powers which Truman invoked in the steel seizure.

2. Invalidate a lower court's order forbidding the unions to strike while the railroads are being operated by the government.

The union attorneys asked an immediate hearing, before the Supreme Court decides the steel seizure case. Otherwise, they said, the steel decision might contain precedents applicable to the railroad seizure case.

The high court took no action formally granting or denying a hearing on the appeal. But it permitted the union attorneys to appear as "friends of the court" and to argue for one hour at conclusion of the steel case argument.

Potato Shortage Hits Maine, Top Producer

PORTLAND, Me., May 10—(AP)—Maine, the nation's largest potato producer, is in the grip of a spud shortage.

A sampling of the state's wholesale and retail operators today indicated short supplies still are dwindling. But grocers told the Bangor News and the Associated Press housewives willing to shop around won't go without.

In Bangor, on the fringe of Maine's vast potato empire, handlers said few grocers have any available at the OPS price of 88 cents a peck.

If retailers replenished empty bins at the current asking price, they'd have to sell at about $1.35 a peck, far over the ceiling.

This would be an all time high for "end of the run" Maine potatoes sold in May.

Potato men cited three causes:

Sub-par production both in Maine and Idaho last year because of curtailed subsidies, increased demand due largely to foreign shipments, and OPS controls.

Missouri Boy Drowns In Lake Taneycomo

CAINSVILLE, Mo., May 10—(AP)—Richard Booth, 18, valedictorian of the Cainsville High School senior class, drowned yesterday while on the annual senior class outing at Rockaway Beach, Lake Taneycomo.

Richard and two other boys swam out to buoy marking the outer limits of the swimming area. The other two boys swam back, but Richard sank. Two youths in a boat tried fruitlessly to rescue him.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Booth. The father teaches at Cain rural school and the mother at Cainsville High School. They have two daughters.

Richard was vice present of the senior class, and was an outstanding basketball and baseball player.

The class baccalaureate exercises, scheduled for Monday night, have been cancelled. The funeral will be Monday afternoon.

New Systems Tested

Sedalia Blood Donors Make History Here On Saturday

Pettis County's 113 blood donors, who Saturday visited the Red Cross blood bank at the Armory, were making blood donor history, and were helping to set the pattern for an entirely new system of blood collection, storage and shipping.

Of all the blood collection centers in the nation, the Kansas City area office was selected as the one for the new experiments—and in the Kansas City area a few other cities were picked to take part in the tests. Sedalia was one of the area cities included and Saturday's testing here was one of the first.

Dr. William Murphy of Washington, D. C., was here to head the experiments; Miss Emily Goetz, St. Louis, who is the nurse in charge of the nursing service for the blood program, was his assistant.

Several Experiments Made

During the day, with the cooperation of donors, experiments were made with different manners and ways in which blood can be taken. Several different types of tubes were used. During some of the blood taking the bottles were aggitated the entire time, others were left still al lthe time.

Bottles were weighed before the blood was taken, and then after they had been filled. Stop watches, with alarms, were used for timing how long was taken for various methods of blood taking

The tests went on from the blood taking through the handling, storage and shipping processes. With the results of similar tests, being made in other centers, a new pattern for the blood program is expected to evolve.

Because the testing slowed down the program here, only 113 persons could be handled Saturday—that was the reason the reservations of many persons had to be turned down after a week-leng plea for more donors. It was not permitted at the time, however, to give the reason for cutting down on the number of donors.

160 Donate Friday

Friday tere were 160 persons whose blood was taken at the center. That was nearly as many as could be handled that day in the allotted time. Saturday, it was first expected, would be a period for the taking of blood from at least 200 persons.

On Thursday it was announced the tests would be made and a request was made that the number of donors be held to 113. After that number had been signed, others had to be turned down by the Pettis County chapter of the Red Cross.

No results of the tests here have been announced, but those in charge were complementary of the splendid co-operation received from the Sedalia and Pettis Countians participating. For many of the donors it meant giving much more time than usual at the blood bank. There were a few who had to remain for as long as two hours, while their blood was being taken with the varied, and different, apparatus.

Sedalia Services Complete

It was explained that Pettis County's Red Cross chapter was one of the few included because it is one of only a small number of chapters in the area which provides all the various special services—motor corps, nurses' aides, etc.

All of the special services have to be on hand, well-trained and ready to serve for the experiments to be handled correctly and in order for them to be sufficiently complete to allow accuate tests for a new blood pattern.

Kansas City's area was chosen nationally because it, through active and complete Red Cross centers such as Pettis County maintains, has offered the facilities and co-operation in previous blood programs and has proved capable of serving in the exacting situations.

With the 273 donations received, the Pettis chapter met its quota for the year (from May to May) with a total of 1100 pints of blood for the armed forces. Next August, when the unit visits here again, it will be the start on a new quota and a new year in the blood program.

Farm Group Insists US Send More Food To Friendly Europe

WASHINGTON, May 10—(AP)—The American Farm Bureau Federation declared today the United States must send friendly Europe more food and raw materials and fewer manufactured products if Communism is to be thwarted there.

Calling for a short shift in foreign aid programs, the farm organization said this country is sending western Europe American made manufactured items when the more acute need there is for food and fiber.

Unless the program is changed, the bureau said in a statement, "we will eventually drive our allies into Communist hands" because of their needs to sell manufactured products and to import food.

The bureau said Iron Curtain countries "must have food. And the only place it is available in sufficient quantities this side of the Iron Curtain countries is in the United States. Over the next 10 years the political alignments of Europe will tend to be oriented to a dependable source of these supplies which are so esesntial for the maintenance of their economies."

The farm organization said Europe has the manpower and industrial ability to produce its own weapons and manufactured products. If allowed and encouraged to do so, it could get along with considerably less financial aid from this country.

County Democrats Select 11 To Attend State Convention

Pettis County Democrats, Saturday afternoon, elected delegates and alternates to the State Convention to be held in the Junior College Auditorium in Jefferson City on Monday May 26. The county meeting was presided over by County Chairman Emmet Sullivan.

Frank W. Hayes, state chairman of the Democratic Party, gave a short talk on the coming state and national conventions. He said the national will be held in Chicago starting July 21.

Hayes stated U. S. Senator Thomas C. Hennings, Jr., would be the temporary chairman of the convention at Jefferson City and would give the keynote address. The permanent chairman of the convention is to be William Boatright, former Sedalian, now an attorney in Kansas City.

Each District Gets Two

He also explained 26 delegates and 26 alternates are to be elected, two from each Congressional District while eight delegates and eight alternates at-large are to be elected at the convention.

The delegates and alternates from the Congressional districts are to be elected at Congressional caucuses to be held at 10 a. m. Monday May 26. The Sixth District caucus to be held in the House Lounge in the State Capitol.

Pettis County delegates are going to the state meeting uninstructed as to votes on the national delegates, national committeeman and woman and as to any Presidential preference.

Sullivan Heads List

The eleven delegates ratified are: Emmett Sullivan, chairman of the delegation, Frank W. Hayes, L. P. Howard, Jesse Paul, Mrs. John Lyons, Karl Wimer, J. H. Bagby, W. A. Cramer, Charles Wisdom, Dewey Gwinn and Carl Abbott. Alternates are Mrs. Ike Warren, Mrs. John Devine, Jesse Miller, Mrs. Leo Robb, Mrs. A. J. Gregory, B. A. Fisher, Mrs. Wilbur Askew, E. W. Couey, Mrs. John O'Brien, Cline Cain and Walter Jessee.

Sullivan was elected chairman of the delegation on a motion of W. C. Cramer.

Carlton Kelley, Councilman from the Fourth Ward, was introduced and gave a brief talk, as did Walter C. Cramer, new Sedalia City Chairman. Cramer spoke on the recent Democratic landslide in the city election.

D. Kelly Scruton, Democratic candidate for Representative in Congress, gave a short talk.

3 States Support Sen. Taft

His Total Mounts To 343 Sure Votes; Ike Climbs To 290

(By The Associated Press)

Senator Taft picked up delegate strength in three states yesterday, and General Eisenhower got added backers in two, as the battle to win the Republican presidential nomination continued.

Taft won 11 votes. He got seven in Nevada, two in Missouri, and two in Virginia in Republican party conventions. That brought his total number of delegates in the Associated Press tally to 343. Taft forces claim 400. The Eisenhower count reached 290 with the addition of 4 votes; two in Missouri, and two in Nevada.

The AP tally is based on delegates pledged, instructed, favorable, or willing to state a first ballot choice, and candidate concessions. On this basis nine delegate votes were listed as unknown, uncommitted, or in dispute after the convention voting yesterday.

158 More This Week

A total of 86 delegates both Republican and Democrat, were being named yesterday. To these will be added 158 to be chosen during the week ahead as seven states and Hawaii select their representatives for the July 7 party conclave.

The Oregon primary Friday is considered one of the week's top political events. In addition Wyoming, West Virginia, Washington, Rhode Island, North Dakota, Vermont and Hawaii make important contributions to the treasure chest of coveted convention votes.

Winner Needs 604

Republicans have 1,206 delegates to the national convention in Chicago July 7.. A winning candidate needs 604 to be nominated. Through Sunday the GOP primaries and conventions have named 815, by the end of the week ahead will have named 895.

Democrats have 1230 delegates to the pational convention in Chicago July 21. A winning candidate needs 616 to win. Through today 653 have been named, by week's end the total will be 711. The AP survey up to yesterday gives Sen. Estes Kefauve of Tennessee 106½, W. Averell Harriman 93½, and Sen. Richard D. Russell of Georgia 43.

Cafe, Tavern OPS Official Here May 14

Keith R. Keeley, representative of the restaurant branch of the district Office of Price Stabilization in Kansas City, will be in Sedalia Wednesday to provide informational service to restaurant and tavern operators in this vicinity.

Keeley will be at the Chamber of Commerce office during the day to answer questions while F. B. Burger, president of the Sedalia Restaurant Association, said that facilities will be provided at the Bothwell Hotel that evening in order that additional interviews may be conducted.

It was pointed out that Keeley will be in Sedalia solely for the purpose of furnishing service and to answer questions applicable to the dollars-and-cents restaurant regulation.

This new order also applies to taverns, cocktail lounges and similar type establishments, even though they do not handle food.

Regulation 134 requires the posting of ceiling prices on forms provided by OPS. Affected are the 40 most popular food and beverage items of eating establishments and the 20 leading alcoholic drinks served at taverns.

Keeley suggested it would be helpful if operators bring with them necessary records for completing of filing of prices under this regulation. This would include copies of menus during the base period, Feb. 3-9, 1952.

Only Rye Withstands Slipping Grain Trend

CHICAGO, May 10—(AP)—Most grains were marked down around a cent on the Board of Trade today with only rye being able to resist the mild selling pressure.

The Agriculture Department's forecast of a whooping winter wheat crop was one reason for the sell-off in that grain, and continued favorable reports on oats development and corn seeding sent those feed grains lower.

Wheat closed 1 to 1¼ lower, corn ⅛-⅝ lower, oats ½-1¼ lower, rye ½-¾ higher and soybeans 1 to 1¼ lower.

Rye responded to the Agriculture department's report that the crop this year will not only be down substantially from last year but will be the smallest since the drought of 1934.

Rye had the best gains of any grain for the week—up 2¼ to 6⅛ cents with the distant September contract, which stands for this year's crop, ahead most. Other grains did fairly fell, wheat ending ¼ lower to ⅜s higher, corn ¾-2½ higher, oats ½-2¼ higher, and soybeans ¼ to 3 cents higher. Lard was 2 cents lower to 5 cents higher.

Hobson Officer Blames Skipper For Ship Wreck

BAYONNE, N. J. May 10—(AP)—The senior surviving officer of the destroyer - minesweeper Hobson testified today that the vessel's skipper made a dangerous turn which resulted in the collison of the Hobson and the aircraft carrier Wasp.

The 27-year-old officer, Lieut. William A. Hoefer, said he was on deck when Lt. Comdr. William J. Tierney ordered "standard left rudder," an "dangerous maneuver." Had he been in command, young Hoefer added, he would not have issued the order.

The maneuver brought the tiny Hobson under the prow of the huge aircraft carried. The Hobson was split in half in the collision and sank in four minutes, killing Tierney and 175 crew members.

Hoeffer gave his sworn statement at the second day of hearing before a Navy Court of Inquiry in the Naval Shipyard annex here.

The lieutenant, one of 61 survivors of the sea disaster, said the Wasp had signaled that it was making a right turn. Instead of making a slow right turn, Lieut. Hoefer said, Comdr. Tierney turned right and then ordered two successive left turns. This maneuver, Hoefer added, placed the Hobson right in the path of the oncoming Wasp.

"I warned that the ranges were closing too fast," Lieut. Hoefer said, but "He (Tierney) did not say anything."

Russians Refuse To Allow Allies On German Road

BERLIN, May 10 — (AP) — The western allies were back in a familiar position tonight: wondering what the Russians would do next.

Booted Russian border guards refused today to let Allied military patrols enter the Berlin-Helmstedt Autobahn from the eastern end. They gave no reason, although the patrols along the single highwty linking Berlin and the west across the Soviet gone are daily routine.

U. S., British and French commandants said they had "called Gen. Vasily I. Chuikov's attention to the matter." Chuikov is commander of Russian forces in Germany.

Some Allied officials admitted frankly they were bewildered by the abrupt move, which came on the eve of the third anniversary of the end of the Soviet blockade of Berlin.

Others termed it just another stitch in the needling process the Russian often give the west in Berlin.

But all seemed determined to avoid stress on the incident.

For a time Russian guards refused to let patrols enter from the Helmstedt end of the 110-mile stretch. Later they permitted Helmstedt partol cars to enter.

Red Prisoners Free Gen. Dodd Unharmed

Incident Ties Truce Session In Dark Knot

MUNSAN, Sunday, May 11—(AP)—Korean Armistice delegates — sidetracked by angry debate on Communist seizure of an American general on Koje Island—meet again today, still tightly deadlocked.

A charge by the Red truce delegation that the Allies planned "another massacre" of prisoners to free Brig. Gen. Francis T. Dodd was punctuated last night by the prisoners themselves.

Dodd was released unharmed by North Korean prisoners who held him hostage for 77 hours.

Saturday's truce session lasted only 12 minutes. Eleven minutes were taken up by debate on the Koje Island incident, the Allies coldly rejecting Communist charges of planning a "slaughter" to free Dodd.

The delegates agreed only to meet again today.

There was no sign of a break in the major issues blocking a truce.

SEOUL, Korea, Sunday, May 11—(AP)—Allied patrols raided Communist frontline positions Saturday with one unit chasing the Chinese Reds in two-hour clash on the east-central Pukhan River sector.

A thick overcast hid Communist targets from Allied warplanes.

The Eighth Army reported 16 reds were killed in the running skirmish involving one Allied patrol and two Communist squads east of the Pukhan. The communique said the Reds tried to break off the action and were pursued for 30 minutes.

On the western front, patrol clashes followed an artillery duel early Saturday morning. Allied troops were forced to withdraw from an outpost west of Korangpo but later reoccupied it without a fight.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force announced ten Allied planes were lost to enemy action last week. Thirteen Communist planes were reported destroyed, one probably destroyed and five damaged in dogfights with the MiGs.

Governor Saves Winnie R. Judd

PHOENIX, Ariz., May 10—(AP)—Gov. Howard Pyle of Arizona announced today he had commuted the death sentence of trunk murderess Winnie Ruth Judd to life imprisonment.

He revealed his decision in a formal press release and gave as his main reason the recommendation of the State Board of Pardons and Paroles and of the last three superintendents of the Arizona State Hospital for the Insane where Mrs. Judd has been held since 1933.

The red-haired killer, who was committed to the institution 72 hours before she was to hang for the murder of two women friends, can now be sent to Arizona State Prison if her mental condition permits.

Under state law this means that at some future date her life sentence could be commuted to time served and she could be released.

The governor's prepared statement said:

"In the case of Mrs. Judd, three superintendents of the state hospital have since April, 1945, urged that her sentence be commuted on the premise that no patient of such an institution should be denied the opportunity to recover from their insanity because of a sentence of death."

Mrs. Judd, 48, was convicted of killing Agnes Annie Le Roi and Hedvig Samuelson in 1931 and shipping their dismembered bodies to Los Angeles in a trunk and suitcase. She was later apprehended in Los Angeles.

ESCAPED REDS—Col. Wilbur Raven of Newton, Tex., escaped from Communist prisoners of war on Koje Island Wednesday when Brig. Gen. Francis T. Dodd was seized. US May Seek Moscow's Aid On Truce Tie

WASHINGTON, May 10—(AP)—United States officials are considering making an appeal to Moscow to help bring about a successful conclusion of the deadlocked Korean negotiations.

The step, if taken, probably would be the first big diplomatic move assigned to the new American ambassador to the Soviet Union, George F. Kennan since he arrived in Moscow.

The truce negotiations have been tied up for many weeks over the question whether prisoners of war should be forcibly repatriated.

The United Nations command, firmly backed by the American and British governments, has told the Reds it will not compel prisoners to go home. Out of a total of 170,000 military and civilian prisoners held by U. N. forces, 100,000 have declared they would resist repatriation.

Whether Moscow could exercise a decisive influence in getting the Chinese and North Korean commands to accept the U. N. decision about repatriation is an open question, but some responsible authorities here feel an effort is worth making in that direction.

Russia's overall strategic interest in the question of war or peace in Korea is also a wide open speculation at the moment. Some authorities hold the view that the Kremlin would like to keep American and other U. N. forces tied up in the Far East indefinitely, there-by preventing a maximum buildup in Europe.

A contrary theory is that since the Kremlin is currently following a "peace" strategy, mixed with some sabre rattling, in trying to split the Western Allies it might be interested in getting a Korean armistice and might respond to an appeal.

Russia played an important role in getting the truce talks started and may have had a part in getting them going again after they broke down last fall.

Boone County Dosen't Bind Its Democrat Delegates

COLUMBIA, Mo., May 10—(AP)—Democrats of Boone County today named an uninstructed delegation to the Democratic State Convention. The county's 13 votes will be cast by a 17-man delegation.

The county meeting made no endorsement of any candidate for the party's presidential nomination.

Eisenhower Adds 2 Delegates From Missouri; Total Now 13

KANSAS CITY, May 10—(AP)—Gen. Eisenhower added two more Missouri delegates to the National Republican convention today, bringing his total of certain delegates from the state to 13.

The Fifth District convention, meeting here, named Manvel H. Davis, general chairman of the Missouri Eisenhower movement, and Ingham D. Hook, president of the Eighth Ward Eisenhower Club.

The Fourth District, meeting at Independence, named two uninstructed delegates, but they declined to say whether they favored the General or Sen. Taft.

One of them, Harvey Roney, a lawyer, said: "I'll put it this way," in the Fourth District there is no question but that the people are predominently for Eisenhower—about 75 per cent."

The other, Dr. Ralph Perry, declined to state his position definitely ,but did say, "I can appreciate the majority sentiment in the Fourth District."

Taft Wins In Ninth

Taft forces beat down a move to instruct the ninth district's two delegates for Eisenhower today at Montgomery City.

A resolution to that effect was introduced on the floor of the district meeting, but was defeated, leaving the delegates uninstructed.

Named to represent the district at the GOP National Convention were Louis B. Eckelkamp of Franklin County and Mrs. F. J. O'Meara of Audrain County.

Alternates selected are Mrs. Leland Henneke of Gasconade County and Robert B. Niedener of St. Charles County.

The Fifth District Republicans also named two staunch Eisenhower supporters as alternates. They are Donald C. Nielson, president of the Young Republican, Inc., an early Ike supporter, and Mrs. Evelyn Layson, secretary of the Tenth Ward Eisenhower Club.

Oscar D. Nelson, chairman of the Eisenhower State Finance Committee, was recommended for presidential elector.

In other action at Cape Girardeau, 10th District delegates endorsed A. D. Welsh of St. Louis for national committeeman from Missouri and Mrs. Estelle D. Tanner for re-election as national committeewoman.

They also recommended Ralph Hutchison of Caruthersville to the state convention as an elector.

Release Comes After Parley With Leaders

SEOUL, Korea, Sunday, May 11—(AP)—Brig. Gen. Francis T. Dodd, was freed unharmed and in good spirits last night by his Communist captors on Koje Island.

The price of his freedom—concessions made to thousands of Red prisoners of war—probably will be announced late today.

In a dramatic, late hour announcement to correspondents, the U. S. Eighth Army said Dodd was released at 9:30 p.m. (8:30 a.m., CST, Saturday)—78 hours and 15 minutes after he was dragged bodily into a compound of 6,000 surly North Korean prisoners late Wednesday afternoon.

Dodd will be flown to Eighth Army Headquarters for a news conference late today. Details of Dodd's release were not announced immediately. The Eighth Army said it came after a meeting of Communist ringleaders of the compound—a conference attended by leaders from other prison compounds on the rocky island.

Raven Fights Free

Dodd, 52, commander of the island prison, was seized as he conferred with the prisoners at the gate of Compound 76. He and Lt. Col. Wilbur Raven of Newton, Tex., were grabbed by the Red leaders, but Raven fought his way out of the group.

Dodd was held hostage inside the compound, where he negotiated with the Reds for settlement of some of their grievances. The Reds permitted his free use of the telephone and allowed meals to be sent to him.

Dodd asked camp authorities to refrain from using force to free him until the Communists had completed listing their demands. The army said Saturday some "minor requests" of the Reds had been granted.

Those requests included use of a telephone, writing paper and the admittance of prisoner leaders from other compounds on the island.

About 80,000 Communists now are held on the island, including most of the 70,000 who have said they wish to return to Communist rule. Nearly 100,000 other Red military and civilian internees said they would forcibly resist being returned.

Koje Riots Bloody

Koje was the scene of two bloody riots, both of them instigated by die-hard Korean Red prisoners. Seventy-five prisoners were killed and 135 wounded Feb. 18 when American guards were forced to fire on prisoners attacking them with crude but deadly weapons. One guard was killed and 33 wounded.

Another riot erupted March 13. Twelve prisoners were killed and 26 wounded when South Korean guards fired into a compound after being stoned by the priosners.

Before Dodd's release, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway said in Toklo the incident "may very well affect the Korean truce talks."

"This is a situation of the Communists' own creation and, in their world where neither logic nor truth has any value, there is no telling to what extent they will build up this incident," the Allied commander said.

Annual S Club Banquet Wed. At Cafeteria

The annual "S" Club spring banquet is to be held at the Smith-Cotton Cafeteria on Wednesday, May 21, at 6:30 p. m. Plans for one of the largest spring banquets of the organization are being made.

William F. Brown, Sedalia attorney, has been selected as the principal speaker for the occasion.

New members of the "S" Club, from the graduating class of 1952, will be initiated and introduced.

Reservations must be made by Saturday evening, May 17. Cards for reservations have been sent out, but addresses of a number of members of the club could not be found. Any member who has not received an invitation and desires to attend should call Smith-Cotton High School and made his or her reservation.

Miss Bettye Ellsworth is president and is general chairman in making the arrangements.

Smithton Defeats Move To Dissolve School District

The proposal to dissolve the Smithton School District R-VI was defeated at a special election held Saturday at Smithton. The vote against the dissolution was 598 while the vote favoring the proposal was only 177.

Since the consolidation of the school district there had been considerable satisfaction over the arrangement. The disagreement finally was reached with the calling of a special election at Smithton for Saturday.

The election had no connection with the school levy as had been rumored, it being strictly on the proposal of continuing as a district or dissolving.

Hollywood Nite Club Star Says 'No' to Movies

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Josephine Baker, playing her first night club run in Hollywood, is accepting the applause of the movie crowd but refusing their film offers.

The controversial Negro entertainer is reported mulling an offer to film her life story. But she has turned down many other film opportunities. The reason: she was wanted merely for specialty numbers in musicals.

"I don't like to use the term egotistically," she remarked, "but in France I was a star in movies. I played the leading role in many pictures. One of my partners was Gabin — Jean Gabin. I do not intend to do specialties in pictures here.

"I don't want the same thing to happen to me as happened to Lena Horne. She was limited to doing musical numbers. And the numbers were cut out of the pictures when the pictures played in the South. I think Lena Horne should be starred, and I think some day she will be.

"I have a very good feeling about Hollywood. I think it is growing up. I think the time is coming when the movie industry will be making films starring colored artists.

"Hollywood should do this. After all, it is the motion picture capital of the world. It should take the lead in understanding between the races. Besides, it would be good business. Think of the audience of colored people throughout the world — 500 or 600 million! I think the studios would more than make up whatever loss they might suffer in the South. And I think the day is coming when the South will go for such pictures, too."

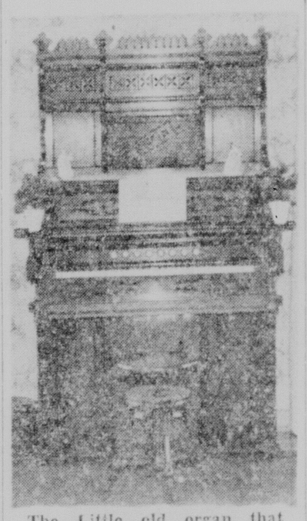

In recent years, there have been only two all-Negro pictures made by major studios. In 1942, MGM made "Cabin in the Sky" with Ethel Waters and Rochester. In 1943, 20th-Fox put out Stormy Weather," a musical starring Lena Horne and Bill Robinson.

"But I don't argue that pictures should have all-colored casts," Miss Baker continued. "I merely say that when a story calls for somebody colored, it should be played by a colored person.

In Hollywood, when the Queen of Sheba is portrayed, she is shown as a blue-eyed blonde. Now the Queen of Sheba was certainly not blue-eyed and she was no blonde. Also, Cleopatra is shown as light-skinned and blue-eyed. Even though the custom then was to paint the face white, Cleopatra was dark-skinned and she couldn't have had blue eyes."

The reindeer was domesticated in the Old World in prehistoric times.

The Little Old Organ That Came Back Home

The Little old organ that came back home.

There is music in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Scotten, 1629 West 18th. Music on an old fashioned organ as well as a modern piano. Three generations of women in the home play the organ, Mrs. Scotten, her daughter Judy and her mother Mrs. Zella Embrey, who plays by ear the lovely melodies of her own generation.

The little organ belongs in the home. It was back sometime around 1890 that Mr. and Mrs. Sam Harsh built the home at 1629 West 18th and later the organ was purchased for one of the daughters in the family, Jessie. She later married Arthur Sellers and was well known in Sedalia through her many years as a teacher in the public schools here.

Mrs. Henry Bolton was a sister of Mrs. Harsh and her daughter, Mrs. D. W. Scotten, has many childhood memories of the little organ.

Just when the organ was first in the home Mrs. Scotten doesn't remember. It must have been before she was born for she has no recollection of the home without it. From the time she was a tiny girl she helped make music with the organ. As her cousin Jessie played she was underneath pumping and it was no easy job. Sometimes she wondered if Jessie would ever stop playing — she got so tired of pumping. Then she figured out another way to pump. When she was tired pumping with her feet she got a little footstool, sat down on it and pumped with her hands.

Every Christmas the big family dinner was held at the Harsh home and after the dinner all of the family gathered around the organ where they sang Christmas carols and other favorite songs. Henry Bolton always had his harp, too, and the dishes waited until the singing was done. If it was too cold in the room where the organ was, it was rolled into a warmer room for the Christmas singing.

The years went by, Mr. and Mrs. Harsh died and Mr. and Mrs. Sellers kept the home until her death. Then the other daughter in the family, Mrs. Eva Brennecke, came from Kansas City to live in the home. Finally she gave it up about eight years ago and it was purchased by Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Scotten.

But the little organ had left the home long before that. It had gone into the home of Mrs. Harsh' sister, Mrs. Bolton, and there it stayed until Mr. and Mrs. Bolton left their country home on the Main Street Road and moved to Dresden. The home in Dresden was small and there was no room for the organ. Mrs. Bolton looked around for a place where somebody would want it and then she thought of Mrs. C. F. Scotten.

"Maude," she told Mrs. Scotten, "You have always loved this little organ so I am going to give it to you."

Mrs. Scotten was so pleased — but she had no place to put it either at that time, except in the tenant house on their farm. So now, since the Scottens had bought the Harsh home, there was room for the organ. But it had been in the tenant house and was in bad condition. Even the mice had done their share of destruction. It had been in perfect condition when it was given to Mrs. Scotten and she felt so bad because of its condition.

Then four years ago the Scotten home was partly destroyed by fire, so after it was remodeled Mrs. Scotten had the organ restored. It was refinished by Albert Trueblood and restored by Carson Meredith. Today it is just as good as new — and Mary Katherine Scotten, the daughter of the woman who used to pump the organ when she was a little girl, loves to play on it. "I think," Maude Scotten tells her, "This organ will some day be yours."

And so the little organ, after going from one place to another is right back in the home where it started — a very special and very much loved piece of furniture in the home again.

Arabia is believed by some authorities to be the original home of the Semitic peoples.

MORE CHEVROLET TRUCKS IN USE THAN ANY OTHER MAKE!

Stack up what you get for what you pay . . . and join the nation's largest group of truck users by choosing Chevrolet

By far the biggest number of truck users today are Chevrolet owners . . . and for good hard-headed reasons. Because what they're after in a truck can be set down about like this:

1) It's got to be low in cost. Chevrolet trucks have the lowest list prices.

2) Upkeep and operating costs must be low. Chevrolet trucks work for rock-bottom "wages" on fuel and maintenance.

3) How well the truck does the job is all-important. Chevrolet trucks are factory-matched to the job.

4) The truck must be rugged, long lasting. Chevrolet trucks traditionally bring more at trade-in, for what they cost, than any other truck.

Come in and let's see how a Chevrolet truck can save money in your business.

Fact No. 1 — Save money on purchase price: Stack up a Chevrolet truck against any other truck with comparable specifications, capable of handling the same payloads. You'll find the Chevrolet truck lists for less . . . and brings you great truck features you won't find in many trucks costing much more.

Fact No. 2 — Save money on operating costs: Truck users everywhere have proved to themselves that Chevrolet costs less to own and maintain. Valve-in-Head economy, in the Loadmaster or Thriftmaster engines, saves on gas. Special 4-way engine lubrication reduces wear, keeps oil costs low.

Fact No. 3 — Save money on job efficiency: You don't waste money by buying "too much truck"—you don't risk work interruption or slow-downs by buying "too little truck." Frame, axles, springs, body, brakes, and power are part of a well-balanced team that does the job at lowest cost.

Fact No. 4 — Save money on low depreciation: Records show that Chevrolet trucks traditionally bring more money at resale or trade-in time than any other make which costs about the same new. Here is further evidence that Chevrolet is the best truck buy—and that's why more truck users buy them!

POST EXCHANGE AT SAFB OPENED — Although small, the new PX at the SAFB has all the essentials for the men of the Air Force and it was opened only a few days ago. A portion of the PX is shown in the above picture with A2c Charles F. Stewart Jr., clerking behind the counter, waiting on one of the first customers, A1c William E. Peters. The PX is not as elaborate as that planned for the base, but it handles all emergency needs for the men now stationed there, who number better than 200 enlisted men and officers. Limited as to space —there is an ample supply of basic needs such as a wide assortment of candy, gum, tobacco of all kinds, toiletries, stationery, ink pens, pencils, and shoe polish.

In the near future such items as clothing, uniform accessories, radios, watches and other desired merchandise will be stocked.

Captain Wilfred H. Housenga is the PX officer-in-charge. It was made possible, Capt. Housenga said, through the cooperation of Ft. Leonard Wood, from where the fixtures and stock were obtained.

Present opening hours of the PX are from 11:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. and from 4 p. m. to 5:30 p. m. — (Photo by First Lieut. I. M. Venta, USAF).

Ask to See the 'Blue Card'

C. of C. Warns of Solicitors Taking Money With 'Rackets'

Solicitors seemed to be swarming into town from all directions and the solicitation committee of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce asks the cooperation of merchants in asking for the blue card approval from the C. of C. before giving any money or buying advertising from out-of-town people.

The solicitation committee has been set up in the Chamber of Commerce under the Better Business Bureau to investigate all people who want to solicit in Sedalia. Before a merchant pays anyone any money he should ask to see the blue card from the Chamber of Commerce. It is not enough to merely inquire if the person has been to the Chamber of Commerce. Local merchants would save money and embarrassment if they would be certain that the solicitor not only has been to the C. of C., but has been approved by them.

Right now, one of the biggest schemes seems to be selling advertising in railroad books and magazines. A man was stopped on such an endeavor this past week and had no license, no card of approval and admitted, when arrested, he shauld not have been soliciting here. He paid a fine and went on his way. Several weeks ago another man was picked up who was in the same racket and, although he gave back all the money, it was found he had a bad record.

There is no law to keep these solicitors from going around to see the merchants and the only protection merchants have is for them to call the Chamber of Commerce and check.

Color Explained

White and black are not colors. A white body reflects and a black body absorbs all the rays of light without spreading them, while the colors themselves are due to the separation of light rays.

Kefauver Feels Demos Are Ones To Do Clean-Up

SALT LAKE CITY, (AP) — Sen. Estes Kefauver said today that the Democrats are the ones to clean crime and corruption out of government.

The Republicans talk a lot about crime and corruption," the Tennessee Democrat said, "but you'll notice they are not the ones who are exposing and breaking the links between criminal elements and some men in politics."

In a prepared address keynoting the state convention of Utah Democrats, the ex-crime prober said corruption in government, the high cost of living and, above all, peace, are the major specific issues in which he has found voters interested in his cross country campaigning.

Kefauver, a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, is seeking the 12 Utah national convention delegates being chosen here today.

"Confidence in government must be restored," he said, "and as president I would make that my first order of business."

Kefauver said, "we must press forward in streamlining the federal government. I am convinced that this budget, like all our budgets, contains a great deal of water, and it should be our business as Democrats to see that all this water is squeeze out."

MOSCOW, (AP) — The Moscow "Metro", or subway, has recently opened four new stations, bringing the total to 35. The subway, now 18 years old, has 28.2 miles of track.

Florida Gamblers' 'Take' Far Below Postwar Years' Peak

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Florida gamblers, whose annual "take" in the postwar years was estimated at 120 million dollars, apparently made only about 1½ millions in the past winter season.

John L. Fahs, collector of internal revenue for Florida, made the estimate on the basis of payments by gamblers holding federal tax stamps.

During the five-month period from December through April, Fahs said, 633 gamblers paid $141,355 to the government. This supposedly represents 10 per cent of their gross "take."

Fahs said he believed most of the state's gamblers had registered, bought the $50 federal tax stamps, and paid their 10 per cent tax.

"So far as we have been able to tell," he said, "there are few holdouts."

It is claimed that electricity was first made from atomic energy at the Atomic Energy Commission's testing station in Idaho on December 20, 1951.

By Mrs. Thomas W. Miller

TIPTON—Ed Schuler, an agent for the Missouri State Conservation Commission, has been assigned Morgan County as his territory. He has had Moniteau County as his district for the past seven years, during which time he has resided in Tipton at the City Hotel where he will continue to live at least for the present. William Stuesse, Boonville, has been given this territory.

Cpl. Don McCormick, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. McCormick, arrived Saturday to be here on a 15-day furlough. Don is stationed at Kessler Air Force Base, Biloxi, Miss.

Spending the day Sunday in St. Louis were Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Kline and their son, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Kline and children, Nancy and Jimmie. They made a surprise visit to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Imms, the day being Mr. Imm's seventieth birthday. Other guests for the day were Mr. and Mrs. John Imms and daughter, Judy, and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard, all of St. Louis.

Mrs. Jack Imms is an aunt of Mrs. O. W. Kline. Mr. Imms is an engineer on the Missouri Pacific, his run being between St. Louis and Sedalia. The couple owns residence property in Tipton which is still claimed as their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Orscheln and foster daughter, Joyce Tucker, were here Sunday visiting his parents Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Orscheln. Leo is connected with the Orscheln Brothers Truck Lines, the business being owned by five brothers.

Mrs. Lena C. Collins, superintendent of the Training School for Negro Girls, has returned from a two-weeks vacation-trip to Louisville, Ky., and Indianapolis, Ind. Last Thursday evening Mrs. Collins entertained members of the missionary society of the Second Baptist Church, including the pastor of the church, the Rev. and Mrs. Coleman, of Boonville.

Mr. and Mrs. William Veulemans returned Monday from a weeks stay in Kansas City. During that time she was in the University of Kansas Hospital having had a cataract removed from her left eye.

W. W. (Doc) Harvey, Eldon, district manager of the Missouri Utilities Company, was a guest at Monday night's supper meeting of the Lions Club held at Charlie's Crystal Cafe.

Two Sedalians Rank Near Top In Driving Test

JEFFERSON CITY, May 70—(AP)—Springfield, Sedalia and Houston driver training classes all placed two winners in the state driving contest here today.

Winners among the girls (the scores are points made out of a possible 1,000):

Peggy Brigance of Springfield first with 880, Kathryn Ransome of Rolla second with 872, Winifred Thomas of Sedalia third with 864 and Irene Brown of Houston fourth with 863.

Winners among the boys:

Virgil Scheets of Houston first with 909, Max Fitzsimmons of Albany second with 899, Don Rich of Springfield third with 887 and James Roberts Wilson of Sedalia fourth with 867.

The scores were compiled results of both written examinations on traffic law knowledge and actual driving ability.

Regional winners from ten patrol troop areas came here for the finals. Patrol Lt. John Berglund, who ran the program, said the young drivers did an excellent job on the difficult driving course.

First place winners got $100 defense bonds, second $50 bonds, third $25 bonds and fourth $10 in defense stamps.

The awards and regional driving certificates were presented at a dinner after the examinations.

It was the second year the Highway Patrol's uniformed members dug into their own pockets to make up the prizes for the contests— on the theory that such a program would help promote good driving among the youngsters and their parents as well.

Library Provides Fine Services For Patients At Local Hospital

Patients at Bothwell Hospital are offered, among the institution's therapeutics, a simple form of biblio-therapy — healing through books, in other words. The full application of this scientific treatment would require a specially trained book technician cooperating with doctor, nurse and patient. The use of biblio-therapy in its true sense, however, is neither possible nor necessary in a general hospital.

But the value of reading in convalescence and chronic illness has not been overlooked by the hospital here, nor by the Sedalia public library which provides regular service free of charge. A collection of sixty or more books is kept at the hospital, and circulated each Wednesday morning by a representative of the library, Miss Marie Fritz. She fills her cart and visits all patients well enough to be seen. Books from the main library are brought to patients who have made requests in advance.

Hospital books are selected with careful regard to readibility and subject matter. Strictly avoided are themes dwelling on disease or unpleasant problems which might have distressing implications for ill and already worried readers.

The collection includes humorous stories, travel books, light novels, a few Westerns and whodunits and children's stories. Typical selections are: "Anything Can Happen", "Cheaper By The Dozen", "We Took to the Hills", and "Father of the Bride".

While short-stay patients are pleased with the library's free book-lending service, it is those confined for weeks, months and years who most deeply appreciate the weekly attention they receive.

One patient in particular, full of wit and humor despite the fact that he had been bedfast for seven years has read all the books in the regular collection. He seldom fails to make a request for the following week. His favorite subjects are humorous writings and descriptions of strange places. He frequently refers to a book that especially appealed to him, "The White Continent" (a story of Antarctica) chosen by the librarian, and says he will take a chance on her choosing another as good.

Unexpected response on the part of a patient has at times dispelled any temporary qualms the librarian has had about the worth of trying to give "the right book to the right person at the right time". A crumpled note found stuffed in the book pocket of "Mama's Bank Account" read: "This is the best book I ever read and I thank the sweet library lady who brought it. It made the time go faster and would be good for anybody who needs an uplift". The book had been issued the previous week to a woman who said she never reads much.

Busy hospital staff members are among the best patrons of the book cart which travels the corridors of the hospital each week. They are quick to spot any attractive new books which, by the way, all now appear in colorful jackets with transparent covers.

The librarian in charge of the hospital collection expressed the hope that in the future someone will contribute, as a gift or memorial, a projected book machine such as is being used by many hospitals. This device makes it possible for patients to read even though too ill to hold a book. She also hopes that before long her book cart can be replaced by that one that makes less noise and holds more books.

Post-Dispatch Finds Errors In GOP Referendum Petitions

ST. LOUIS, May 10—(AP)—The Post-Dispatch reported tonight it found evidence of widespread irregularities on Congressional redistricting referendum petitions circulated by Republicans in the 13th Congressional District.

The Post-Dispatch, in a copyright story by Herbert A. Trask, said a partial check of names listed on North St. Louis petitions showed at least 103 fraudulent or improper signatures.

A total of 72 persons whose names appear on petitions, told the newspaper they did not sign them, the Post-Dispatch added. The petitions list names of 27 other persons who live in other Congressional districts or in St. Louis County, the story said.

In one case, a man who signed a petition told the newspaper he added his wife's name. Three others could not be found.

According to the Secretary of State's office in Jefferson City, lists containing 5,685 signatures were filed by the Republican State Committee from the 13th district, or only 132 more than the minimum required by law.

Two Others Barely Qualify

In addition to the 13th, two other districts also had just enough names to comply with requirements to bring the new redistricting law before the voters. They are the Third in northwest Missouri with just three more names than the minimum and the 10th in southeast Missouri with 229 more than the requirement.

Unless a court rules the petitions out all Congressional candidates will run in the state at large rather than in their own districts.

Under state law the Republicans had to file petitions signed by 5 per cent of the qualified voters in nine of the state's old 13 Congressional districts. A signature count showed they apparently had filed sufficient signatures in 11 of the districts.

A hearing is scheduled Monday in Jefferson City on a suit filed by the Missouri Farmers' Association against the petitions.

Ancel A. Skaggs, chairman of the Republican City Committee, said tonight that if the Post-Dispatch's disclosure of irregularities "are what they appear to be," he will call a meeting of committee members from the 13th district to take appropriate action.

Some Look Suspicious

He added he personally had thrown out some petitions from the city's 11th district which "looked suspicious because of the similarity of names."

Alfred L. Grattendick, chairman of the GOP committee for the 13th district, said precinct workers were paid 10 cents a name after the drive for signatures bogged down. Before that, he added, the work was done on a voluntary basis.

He added he rejected some signed petitions because they appeared wrong.

Grattendick said: "It is pretty discouraging to see a thing like this happen when we worked so hard to get our petitions in order."

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dobel, Harry Dobel and Mrs. J. J. Cox will leave Sunday for Parsons, Kan., to attend the graduation of their niece, Miss Mary Patricia Dobel, from the Mercy Hospital School of Nursing, conducted by the Sisters of St. Josph.

Contract negotiations over demands for higher wages were stalled as Britain and the United States issued a joint appeal to all nations to conserve fuel.

Beginning Monday, Britain's nationalized airlines will cut by 30 per cent consumption of aviation fuel, most of which it imports from the U. S. Military flying by both U. S. and Royal Air Force has been trimmed.

In Washington, the State Department said representatives abroad have been asked to contact officials of other government to advise them of the conservation request. London sources said it is expected that civil aviation will shortly be subject to world wide restrictions.

Efforts to reach local settlements that would send the 90,000 strikers back to refineries and other oil facilities have been suspended until a meeting of union and industry representatives in Washington Tuesday.

Make a hurricane lamp—or a pair even—for summer entertaining, out of old tin cups, the larger the better and with handles.

Paint the tin cup in any color you wish and put a few designs in color on the sides. Use decals on the shiny painted cup if you don't want to paint a pattern. Now buy a lamp chimney and put in the cup over a candle that has been secured in a small candle holder in the cup.

It would be wise to put a few holes around the base of the cup before painting it. This will give the candle some air so it will burn brighter.

Miss Rosalie Marie Meyers Becomes The Bride Of Harry Lawrence Weller On Thursday, May 1

Mrs. Harry Lawrence Weller, who before her recent marriage was Miss Rosalie Marie Meyers. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Meyers, route 2, Sedalia. (Photo by Lehmer.)

The Sacred Heart Church was the scene of a pretty wedding Thursday, May 1, at 9 o'clock in the morning, when Miss Rosalie Marie Meyers, 804 West Fourth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Meyers, route 2, became the bride of Harry Lawrence Weller, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Weller, 1721 South Missouri. The double ring ceremony was read by the Rev. A. J. Brunswick pastor of the church before an altar setting of mixed bouquets of pastel spring flowers with a background of palms. Large white satin bows marked the pews.

Miss Regina Boul, soloist, sang "Mother Beloved" preceding the nuptial mass and for the offertory "Panis Angelicus". Miss Boul Miss Annette Moser and Miss Barbara Franke sang the mass. Sister Mary Antoinette was at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of traditional white satin fashioned with a tight fitting bodice and long sleeves tapering to a point at the wrists. The very deep, off-shoulder bertha of fine sheer Battenberg lace, was held in place with nylon illusion which was designed in a high simple rounded neckline. The bouffant skirt was gathered on either side giving a panier effect, which ended in a long Cathedral train. Her half bonnet of white satin was trimmed with a tiny white ostrich curl and held a fingertip illusion of nylon. She carried a prayer book showered with gardenias.

The maid of honor, Miss Genevieve Dick, wore a jonquil yellow marquisette dress styled with a deep square neckline which was cuffed with matching satin collar. The bouffant skirt had tiny bands of matching satin giving an apron effect across the front and ended in a deep V at the back. Her bandeau of jonquil satin with tailored bow held a miniature face veil of matching illusion.

The bridesmaid, Miss Dorothy Smasal, wore a gown of mint green of the same design as that of the maid of honor. Both girls carried colonial bouquets of full blown pink roses tied with leaf green ribbon.

Daniel Weller served his brother as best man and groomsman was Thomas Coffey. Ushers were Charles Lemmon and Phillip Meyers.

The mothers of the bride and bridegroom wore navy blue dresses with matching accessories and their corsages were of white gladioli.

A breakfast was given at the Bothwell Hotel for the bridal party following the ceremony and that evening a dance was held in their honor at the V. F. W. hall at which there were 200 guests.

The couple left for a wedding trip which took them to Arkansas, Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Colorado. For traveling the bride wore a navy blue suit with white accessories and her corsage was of gardenias.

The bride is a graduate of Sacred Heart High School in the class of 1949 and is employed by the James H. Drew Corporation.

Mr. Weller was graduated from the Sacred Heart High School in the class of 1950 and is employed at the Bryant Motor Company.

Senior Class Play At Hubbard School

A three-act farce-comedy, "Romantic Ricky," presented at Hubbard School Friday night by the English department and the senior class, was a great success. The acting of all players kept the audience laughing throughout the performance. The play was centered around Ricky Brown, who was to visit in the Bedford home. By the time he actually arrived everything was in a dither due to that old saying, "One lie leads to another," which was started by Carol Holliday, Sheila Bedford's best friend. It seems as though Carol was trying to make Sheila's boy friend stop flirting with Kay Black and pay more attention to Sheila, but when she got through with her lies everyone was angry with each other and just about ready for the psychopathic ward.

The entire production was under the direction of Mrs. J. B. Hylick, head of the English department and senior class sponsor.

Three Hurt In Car Wreck South Of Town

Two persons were injured severely, another less injured, while three others disappeared from an automobile accident (and whether they were injured could not be learned late last night) on the Grand Avenue Ford road south of Sedalia, about 9:30 p.m. Friday.

Dean Winfrey, 19, 414 North Hurley, driver of the 1940 Lincoln sedan, told Sgt. W. S. Barton that he evidently lost control of his car and as it approached the curve and the blacktop pavement. The car skidded approximately 75 feet and nosed headon into a three-fooot ditch and struck an enbankment.

Winfrey suffered a chest injury, laceration on the right wrist, and head injuries. He was admitted to the hosiptal and kept for observation. Dr. A. J. Campbell was the attending physician.

Eddie Clark, 17, 658 East 12th, riding in the front seat with Winfrey, suffered a dislocation of the left hip, bruise on his forehead and other bruises about his body. He was treated by Dr. C. Gordon Stauffacher.

Junior Pirtle, 17, 905 East 11th, also in the front seat suffered a laceration on the right hand and bruises. He was treated by Dr. C. Stauffacher.

According to Pirtle, three other boys were in the car and he named them as Bill Bellis, 18, 1113 South Massachusetts; Buddy Tarr, 1020 South Missouri; and Percy Paul, 519 West Broadway. Pirtle said the three disappeared after the wreck. Sgt. Barton was unable to contact any of the three to determine if they were or were not in the accident.

Pirtle, after he got out of the wreck, said he went to a farm home and called his folks. The farm woman called the Hamlin wrecker.

Carl Dedrick, of Hamlins made the call. A few seconds before he received the wreck call he had a service call in the same locality for a car which had run out of gasoline. Upon his arrival at the scene he left the gasoline to the persons and continued on to the wreck. Finding Clark to be in a bad condition, and his mother there, he took the boy to the Bothwell Hospital before clearing the wreck. The others were taken to the hospital in another automobile. The car was damaged badly.

Knife and Fork Club to Hear One of U.S. Leading Speakers

Imre Kovacs

Members of the Sedalia Knife and Fork club have a treat in store for them at the next meeting of that organization when Imre Kovacs, tall, towering and terrific, and accounted as one of the best speakers on the American platform, will be the guest of honor.

The affair will be held on Friday, May 16, at the Hotel Bothwell.

Mr. Kovacs was educated in that part of Hungary which is now incorporated into Yugo-Slavia, and at Yale and at the Juilliard School of Music. He has long been a close student of international affairs and is widely recognized as an authority on central Europe.

He has a lot to say and, of even more importance to the Knife and Fork Club, he says it in a delightful and charming manner. Because of his handsome appearance and fine bass-baritone voice, along with his unchallenged ability as an observer and commentator, Mr. Kovacs, with merit, has become one of the most popular speakers on the American platform.

Although born abroad, Mr. Kovacs yields to none in his love for his adopted land, and it would be hard to find a better American anywhere in the United States. He speaks English faultlessly and in the rich idiomatic manner of a cultured American gentleman.

In "Red Runs the Danube" he examines the problem presented to the world at large by the national ambitions and racial jealousies and prejudices which have made southeastern Europe the cockpit of the mid-20th century. This examination is not conducted through the eyes of an ex-Hungarian but through those of a citizen of the world whose first loyalties are to the United States of America.

Crown Jewelers Quit After Two Centuries

LONDON (AP)—The House of Garrard—crown jewelers to Britain's royal family for two centuries—is going out of business.

The London firm announced today it will be taken over by the ancient goldsmiths and Silversmiths Company as soon as company shareholders formally assent.

Garrard blamed its demise on the 100 per cent purchase tax which doubles the price of jewelry, and the shrunken post-war buying power of its aristocratic customers.

Queen Elizabeth II now will have to authorize a new royal warrant for another crown jeweler so her regalia can be readied for her coronation in June, 1953. The task is expected to include a remodeling of the imperial state crown to fit the young Queen's head. Garrard was founded in 1721.

Missouri Picks-Up A Fullback

Cadet Scandal Helps Several US Colleges

NEW YYORK—(AP)—Just a year ago West Point authorities began an investigation of reported wholesale violations of the strict honor code at the United States Military Academy. That blossomed into the "cribbing scandal" which culminated in August with the expulsion of about 90 cadets, including almost the entire varsity football squad.

Today, more than a dozen colleges throughout the nation are able to look back on that unpleasant affair with a degree of satisfaction; able to say that because of Army strictness they acquired some fine students, outstanding leaders in the student bodies and first-class football players.

About 15 former Army athletes will play college football again next fall. At least two others who transferred to civilian colleges won't become eligible until 1953. And a great many more are continuing their education but aren't participating in athletics.

The majority of the ex-cadets who will be eligible to play next fall are in the Big Seven and Missouri Valley Conferences. Missouri, Kansas State and Oklahoma A. and M. each had two on their spring practice squads and Kansas, Iowa State, Houston and Tulsa one each.

All Are Good Students

Reports from these schools show an exciting, rather than monotonous, similarity. The boys were not all outstanding in football, though several probably will be stars next fall. But almost without exception they are above average students in such difficult subjects as engineering.

Several are on the dean's scholastic lists.

Football fans, more interested in touchdown than grades, probably will do most of their cheering next fall for Gil Reich of Kansas, J. D. Kimmel of Houston, Elmer Stout of Oklahoma A. and M., Gene Filipski of Villanova and Jim Peyton of West Virginia.

Reich, understudy to Bob Blaik, the coach's son, as quarterback at West Point, had a few eyes popping during Kansas spring drills. He was listed as No. 2 quarterback, but most observers believe that was a "secret weapon" move by Coach J. V. Sikes and that by fall Reich's strong passing, clever ball handling and the smooth way he runs the team will put him on top.

K-State To Use Two

Kansas State, which accepted five former cadets, still has two of them, end Jack McShulskis and guard Ed Stahura. They played only defense on Army teams but Coach Bill Meek expects to use them both ways. Meek is especially high on the tall, 220-pound McShulskis.

Kimmel, a tackle, also will be a two-way player since Houston Coach Clyde Lee decided to abandon the platoon system. He moved right in on both defense and right in on both offense and defense over strong competition.

Bill Rowekamp, an Army defensive end, was switched to offensive fullback at Missouri and made an excellent impression in spring drills. He may be used on defense, too. Missouri also has halfback Don Mackey, who played hockey but not football at West Point. They "just tagged along" with Al Conway, who found that his two years of freshman play counted against him so he was ineligible under Big Seven rules.

Conway then transferred to little William Jewel college at Liberty, Mo., where he would have a year of eligibility remaining under that school's rules. He has been out for track this spring and Coach Norris A. Patterson says he hopes Al shows up for football practice.

Stout Is Star For Aggies

Stout, all-America linebacker for Army in 1950, also played well on defense for Oklahoma A and M. this spring and is expected to be a two-way star next fall Lou Zeigler also is expected to play a lot of tackle for the Aggies.

At Tulsa Bob Haas may become the No. 1 offensive center on a high-powered team before the season ends although he had some trouble getting used to a new style of play. Jack Erickson is listed for two-way duty at tackle for Iowa State.

Yankees Smear Bosox With 19-Hit Assault

NEW YORK, May 10—(AP)—The New York Yankees scored 11 runs in the seventh inning today and went on to smear the Boston Red Sox, 18-3. The Yanks sent 16 men to bat in the big seventh and scored nine runs before a man was retired. Hank Bauer led the vicious assault, driving in six runs on a pair of homers, two single and a double. Bauer singled and doubled during the big rally.

2 Drivers Hurt In Race Trials At Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS, May 10—(AP)—The first two serious crashes of the season sent two race car drivers to the hospital today and damaged their cars so badly that they have slight chance of running in the 500-mile race at the Indianapolis motor speedway May 30.

Bayliss Levrett, 38, of Glandale, Calif., was burned seriously in the fiery crash of his Brown Motor special. Less than two hours later Bobby Ball, 26, of Phoenix, Ariz., cracked up on the same turn and went to Methodist hospital with a simple concussion.

Both were fighting a stiff wind in practice runs as their cars went out of control on the northwest turn of the 2½-mile track.

Lewrett was reported in fair condition in Methodist hospital. He suffered burns on his hands and left leg before he could tear off his burning shirt and trousers.

Levrett brought the car out of the northwest turn of the track fast and it hit the outside retaining wall four times. Then it skidded sideways down the front straightaway 1,100 feet, catching afire.

It was Levrett's first practice run this season in the Brown Motor Special.

Ball also was making his first run of the season in the Blakely Oil Special, a car he drove to fifth place in his first 500-mile race last year.

As he came out of the northwest turn he overcorrected and shot off the track into the infield, spun across the track, hit the wall headon, spun again with the tail hitting the wall and then ran off.

Methodist hospital said Ball's condition was not serious, but added that his skull might have been fractured.

Racedom Mourns Hill Gail Injury

BALTIMORE, May 10—(AP)—Everybody agrees it's a shame about Hill Gail.

But his passing from the Preakness scene is pretty sure to add more zing to what now will be a real scramble for the second part of the triple crown.

The Calumet Farm's Kentucky Derby winner was removed as a Preakenss contender because of an ankle growth which must be fixed.

He's also out of the Belmont Stakes, since he will not race again for several months.

There'll be no holder of racing's triple crown in 1952.

There could be as many as a dozen three-year-olds in the 76th running of the Preakenss at Pimlico next Saturday.

Dixiana Stable's Sub Fleet, second by two lengths to Hill Gail in the Derby, rules right now as the favorite.

The Maryland Jockey Club has on its roster 15 possible starters—three or four of them in the very doubtful class.

Besides Sub Fleet, they are:

White Oak Staable's Blue Man, who ran third in the Derby; John C. Clark's Charlie McAdam, Mrs. G. Guiberson's Arroz, M. Kahlbaum's Jampol, Gustav Smith's Handsome Teddy, Brookmeade Stable's Suggested aand Roaring Bull, J. J. Amiel's Count Flame, Starmount Stable's Primate, Cain Hoy Stable's Armageddon, Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Whither, G. F. Strickland's Lord Priam, Walter Jefford's One Count, and Sam E. Wilson, Jr.'s Gushing Oil.

Phillies Rock Dodgers Twice

NEW YORK, May 10—(AP)—Righthanders Karl Drews and Robin Roberts knocked the Brooklyn Dodgers out of first place in the National League tonight as they pitched the Philadelphia Phils to 4-0 and 8-1 triumphs in a twi-night doubleheader.

Drews permitted only two-hits in the first game and Roberts four in the second. The defeats dropped the Dodgers into second place, 1½ games behind the New York Giants who won a 4-2 day game from Boston.

First inning singles with one out by Billy Cox and Jackie Robinson deprived Drews of a no-hitter. The 31-year-old righthander retired the next 26 men he faced.

Willie Jones sewed it up for the Phils with a two-run homer off loser Ralph Branca in the second inning.

Roberts almost duplicated Drews' performance in the second game. Roberts had a one-hitter until the seventh when Duke Snider singled and yielded two more hits with two down in the eighth. Roberts fanned four and walked none in gaining his fifth victory.

Burton Scores Only Points For Tigers In Relays

Floyd Burton for the first time in four weeks ran the high hurdles, taking a third place in the event in the St. Joe Relays Friday. Burton was the only man from Smith-Cotton to gain any points, other than Gene Rathburn who was in a seven way tie for fourth place in the high jump. He received 1.7 of a point for it.

Coach Bob Karnes stated that all top Class A teams were in the meet and the competition was as strong as the Outdoor State will be. Karnes took ten boys to the meet.

Dave Lingle made a good showing in the 100 yard dash, placing fifth but didn't receive any points for it.

Karnes said he didn't know who he will take to the Outdoor State because of baseball games which are to be played next week.

Re, a slender left fielder, poled his circuit clout against a stiff wind in the third inning to mar a three-hit performance by Houston's righthander Bob Clatterbuck.

Sports Scraps

By D. "Kelly" Scruton)

LOCALLY Baseball Season opens today with the Central Missouri Baseball League getting the jump on other leagues in this area. Sedalia has a member team in the league in the Town and Country ball club, and they are building hopes of winning the title.

Although there are eight teams in the league only three games are on today's schedule. T-C journeys to California for their first tilt; Versailles travels over to Prairie Home and Tebbets will drive over to Mokane. The Jefferson City Red Legs—listed on the schedule as Red Birds—and the Tipton ball club are ideal for the first day, they go into action on May 18.

Recalling days back about 20 years the Central Missouri League was one of The Leagues of Missouri and drew much attention. It is the hope of the sponsors of teams in the league to bring it back into its rightful place in Missouri baseball.

In those middle and late 20's and early 30's some of the best baseball games seen were played at Liberty Park by the old Sedalia Merchants, and the old Athletics too, in that league. Many of the same towns were in it and competition was rought.

The early season interest promises some good support to the teams from the various towns.

HOUSEL PARK is being taken over by the "Little League". Much improvement in the baseball setup out there is promised and already money has been obtained through donations by many Sedalia Merchants which will result in a lighting system.

Housel Park, known in years gone by as the "Coal Chute Diamond" has been a playground for the children in northeast Sedalia. It has been a park which afforded baseball for the boys in that section of the city. It will be much better with the new arrangement and bring much more baseball to that area as well as night time entertainment.

But as I have said before, the "Little League" is a fine thing, but it just doesn't take care of enough youngsters for recreation. Sedalians in the near future will have to go together to arrange for a more elaborate recreation program for the youngsters.

SOMETHING has been running through my mind in the past several days. It's Pfeiffer's Woods which was purchased by the City of Sedalia more than a year ago for a city park and recreation area. To my knowledge nothing has been done about it, except to pay for the grounds.

It was called to my attention only the past week, the area is gradually becoming a "dumping ground".

The City of Sedalia should take some action on this park. Either fix it up and make it useful for the purpose it was purchased; fence it up to keep it from being a dumping grounds; or sell it to somebody who will do something about it.

Certainly the park-recreational area is the best, and the city can scratch someplace for a few dollars to clean it up and do some work this year, some next and so on until it becomes one of the beauty spots of Sedalia instead of what it is becoming.

Jensen, Shea Pace Nat's 3-1 Victory

PHILADELPHIA, May 10—(AP)—Jackie Jensen singled home two runs in the ninth inning after a costly error by first baseman Ferris Fain to give the hustling Washington Senators a 3 to 1 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics at Shibe Park. Bus Zernial hit his third home run in three days for the Athletics. Frank Shea, who along with Jensen recently was acquired by Washington from the New York Yankees, won his second straight victory without a loss since joining the Senators.

BOSTON, May 10—(AP)—Jim Hearn, the New York Giants unbeaten righthander, turned in his third win today by holding the Boston Braves to three hits for a 4-2 victory. The Giants totaled 15 hits and clinched matters against lefty Warren Spahn in the seventh by belting four consecutive singles for two runs. Walker Cooper and Ed Mathews homered for the Boston tallies.

Chiefs To Practice At Liberty Park Today

The Sedalia Ban Johnson Chiefs, sponsored by the Cal Rodgers Pontiac Garage, will hold practice this afternoon, weather conditions permitting, on the Liberty Park baseball diamond. Practice is scheduled for 2 p.m.

All baseball players of Ban Johnson age who desire to tryout for the team are urged to attend practice today. Bill Bob Brown has been selected by Cal Rodgers to be in charge of the practice.

Brown has issued a call for all infielders to be at the park at 1:30 to get a warm-up before the practice session starts at 2.

Full brothers finished one-two in a recent California harness race. Robert Morris, six, beat out his 3-year-old brother, Voting Trust. Both pacers are by Volomite and out of The Worthy Miss Morris.

More than $3,000,000 in prize money will be distributed on harness racing's Grand Circuit in '52. The Roarin' Grand got under way at Arcadia, Calif., last week.

John Burroughs, Douglas Take Track Honors

COLUMBIA, Mo., May 10—(AP)—New champions were crowned in the state high school track meet today as John Burroughs High of St. Louis took the class B title and Douglass High of Festus topped class C.

John Burroughs, succeeding Pembroke Country-Day as champion, scored 27 3/5 points to win easily. Feutus High, with 17½, was second. Pembroke scored only 8 points.

Douglass, a Negro school, got 35½ points. Matthews was next with 32½, and Springfield Greenwood, defending class C champion, had 30⅞.

Bill Agnew carried John Burroughs to the top with his high score of 21 points. He won the 100 and 220 dashes and was second in the broad jump.

Three class B records were broken, two of them by William Constantine, St. Louis Chaminade. He did the low hurdles in 20.4, knocking a full second off the old mark. Constantine broke the high hurdles record in the preliminaries yesterday. Kemper's mile relay team ran a 3:38.4 to break Pembroke's 1951 standard of 3:38.6.

In class C, Missouri School for the Deaf set a new mark of 3:37 in the mile relay. The old mark of 3:38 was set by Springfield Greenwood last year.

Tourists View Ancient Cave

SAIGON, Indo-China (AP)—Any who come to Indo-China want to travel over to Cambodia and see the famous ruined city of Angkor Wat—the cradle of the ancient Khmer civilization.

Since demand for travel facilities by air has increased, Aid Vietnam is running regular services to Siem Reap, the nearest hotel point to Angkor Wat. Tourist trips ranging from 3 to 7 days are arranged.

Cancanniere, the French mare that won the International Prix D'Amerique in Paris last January, has been nominated for the $50,000 Roosevelt Two Mile Trot at Roosevelt Raceway Sept. 11th.

Jalopy Races Today At The Fair Grounds

Thrills, spills and lots of excitement is anticipated at the State Fair Grounds this afternoon when the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 2508 present their second running of the modified jalopy autmobiles. Last Sunday, the first of a series of races scheduled for the fair grounds, more than a half dozen cars were smashed and wrecked, fence boards torn from the rails, and the fans given their expected entertainment.

Art Dishinger, Kansas City, winner of the feature event last Sunday who nosed out Crockett Thompson in No. 2, from Clinton, will be back. Thompson was unlucky in the big race when he broke a hub and lost a wheel. It was a neck and neck race until this accident occurred.

Crocket Thompson Back

Crocket has repaired his car and made a few chances which he declares will benefit him on the half-mile oval. He likewise served notice he would be money winner competition today.

Bob Williams whose car had a two by four thrown through the radiator of his vehicle, and into the drivers compartment last Sunday, has made the necessary repairs and the vehicle is ready for Ed Bahner. Baker suffered a shoulder injury and bruises in the mishap, but not too extensive to keep him from today's events.

Jerry Brown reports a new motor in his car which didn't make much of a showing last Sunday. Bob Paxton was unable to get the motor going fast enough to stir the dust, but an inspection of the motor revealed a burned up piston, broken block and a few other parts damaged. He has still another motor in the making which will be used if his car doesn't come into the money today.

Tear Up Race Track Fence

Last week 600 feet of boards were torn out of the half mile track when one car after another crashed into them. The broken spots have been rebuilt and are ready for another beating today.

The events this afternoon call for time trials starting at 1 p. m. The fastest time last week was 36 seconds for the half mile. The sponsors will award $25 to the fastest time today and another $25 if the time trial record is broken.

There will be three heat races of 10 laps each; Consolation race of 25 laps and the Future event of 40 laps.

Bears Capture MIAA Crowns In 3 Sports

MARYVILLE, Mo., May 10—(AP)—Springfield State scored a grand slam today by winning the track, golf and tennis championships of the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association.

Springfield earlier had won the basketball crown and was co-champion with Kirksville in football last fall.

The Bears retained their track title with 63 points. Warrensburg got 51¼, Cape Girardeau 45, Rolla 44¼, Maryville 18¼ and Kirksville 15¼.

In golf, Springfield's 4-man team posted a 36-hole score of 631, led by medalist Don Dougherty with 152. Warrensburg placed second, Rolla third and Maryville fourth.

In tennis, John Buell and Bob Gatlin of Springfield advanced to the singles finals and will play for the title at Springfield next week. Buell-Gatlin defeated Bernie Huhn and Jim Hoverder, Warrensburg, 6-4, 10-8 for the doubles crown.

In addition, coach Andy McDonald of Springfield won the faculty-coaches golf tournament.

Bill "Gabby" McGrary of Sedalia won five points for Warrensburg by soaring 22-feet-3⅜ inches to take the broad jump.

Byrne Smothers Indian Batters On 6 Safeties

CLEVELAND, May 10—(AP)—Southpaw Tommy Byrne, who makes a habit of stopping Cleveland winning streaks, snapped the Indians' five-game skein today by pitching the St. Louis Browns to a six-hit, 6-4 victory.

Byrne checked the Indians' 13-game streak last season and their seven-game string at the start of this season. Today he handed them their first defeat of the year here where they had won five in a row.

Jim Rivera, who had been on the Browns bench for weak hitting, paced their 11-hit attack against Early Wynn and Lou Brissie with a homer and two singles. Bob Nieman also homered as the Browns made it three straight over the Indians. St. Louis is the only club the Redskins haven't beaten this year.

Smith-Cotton Plays NKC In Blues Stadium

Monday Night As Preliminary To Blues—Colonels

The talented athletes of Smith-Cotton's baseball team move into the big time at 6:30 Monday night in Blues Stadium, Kansas City, when they play North Kansas City for the Missouri state regional championship.

It will be the first game of a doubleheader. The second game at 8:15 brings together the Blues and Louisville. First place in the American Association may be at stake in that one.

Smith-Cotton and North Kansas City were outstanding in the regional tournament. Sedalia was not pressed in the lower bracket to win from Redemptorist and DeLasalle. North Kansas City had an easy time in the upper half against Rockhurst and Pembroke Country Day.

Skowron Hits Long Ball

The Blues are home after closing in on leading Milwaukee and Louisville during a successful eastern trip. During early weeks of the season it gives promise of becoming the most powerful hitting club in the minors. Don Bollweg, first baseman, has boosted his average to 382. Bill Skowron, young outfielder leads the league in home runs and Bob Marquis, outfielder and Kal Segrist and Kernait Wahl, infielders are hitting pointing the cover off the ball.

Pitching has been spotty, but the arrival of Harry Schaeffer, lefthander from the Yankees, should help Manager George Selkirk solve that problem.

Cubs Support Rush With 11-Hit Attack

Aggies Sweep Valley Meet; 3 Marks Fall

STILLWATER, Okla., May 10—(AP)—Three records tumbled today as Oklahoma A. and M. College swept the 42nd annual Missouri Valley track and field meet for the 12th consecutvie time.

The Aggies, scoring in every one of the 16 events, amassed 121 points while Houston was second with 65. Tulsa had 25½ points, Wichita 23½ and Detroit 5. The sixth Conference member, St. Louis, did not enter a team.

The records erased today in a wind that came in gusts up to 35 miles an hour were the only ones owned by Drake, which dropped out of the Conference this school year.

Houston Sets Two Records

Houston's small but powerful team set two new records with its 440-yard relay team, cutting three-tenths of a second off the mark of 41.8 set by Drake in 1951. Nick Spillios, Houston's weight ace, hurled the discus 151 feet 8 inches to surpass the standard of 150 feet 10 inches set by Don Welcher of Drake in 1942. Spillios also took a first place in the shot put with a heave of 48 feet 8¾ inches.

The third new mark came in the high jump as Oklahoma A. and M.'s sophomore, Roscoe Vrooman, made a leap of 6 feet 6⅞ inches to top the 6 feet 5 inches flat Drake's Lynn Philson in 1935.

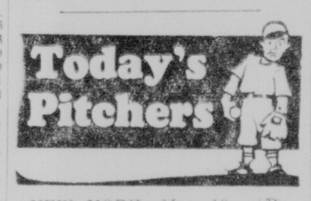

Ruedy Wins Twice

The meet's only other double winner was Oklahoma A. and M.'s hurdler, Roy Ruedy, who took the high hurdler in 15.5 and the 220 low hurdles in 24.4

The Aggies, who qualified 32 men yesterday to virtually cinch the meet, won 10 first places today. Houston, which qualified 14, placed first in five events.

The wind was blamed for preventing two records by the Aggies' half-miler Bill Heard and Fredrik Eckhoff, Norowegian miler attending A and M. Heard ran the 880 in 1:56.3, just 1.7 seconds off the record set by Harold Tarrant of A. and M. in 1950.

Eckhoff ran the mile in 4:20, two seconds slower than the record of Ray Sears of Butler in 1933. Eckhoff came in 65 yards ahead of second-place Melsin Mosley of A. and M.

Williams' State Semi-Pro History

Kansas City Ruperts Romped To Title In 1943 Tournament

(Editor's Note—This is the sixth article on the history of the Missouri Semi-Pro Baseball Tournament written for The Democrat-Capital by Hank Williams, the Missouri Semi-Pro Commissioner.)

The 1943 Missouri Semi-Pro Tourney was held in Kansas City under the supervision of Commissioner Mickey Kogan. The event was sponsored by the Gateway Sporting Goods Co.

Due to gasoline and tire shortages, the field was lagely limited to teams from the Kansas City area. The only outstate entries were the Sedalia Merchants, Marshall Merchants and Versailles Merchants.

Sedalia played in the first game of the classic, losing in the Gray Stadium mud to the Lake City Cardinals, 10-1. Herb Wells fired a six-hitter for the winners. To Sedalia, however, went the honor of executing the first triple play in tournament history.

The local Merchants were eliminated in the second round when Bill Wiley, 17-year-old hurler from the Murray Davis Legion Post tossed a no-hitter. The score was 11-1.

Two industrial teams met in the meet's final game held in Ruppert Stadium. The Rupert Diecasters took the title from the North American Bombers in a 4-1 contest.

Kamphefner Wins Final

The winners broke a 1-1 tie in the second, and pitcher Rollie Kamphefner coasted home allowing only seven hits. Rudy Korach, the loser, gave-up eight hits and three runs during the 7 2/3 innings he worked.

Missouri sent two teams to the National Tournament in Wichita, the Diecasters and third-place winner, the Kansas City Hill Top Gardens.

Both Missouri entries were eliminated in the big tourney's third round.

Women Help Tourney

The manpower shortage failed to prevent the success of the Wichita event. Women were used for umpires, broadcasting and even bat-boys. Lorraine Heinish of Kenosha, Wis., was a member of the umpire staff, and worked in the early games; Dorothy Heichmeier, sports announcer of radio station KCRC in Enid, Okla., aired the games to an Oklahoma network; and Mercedes Wheeler, skating star of the Ice Capades, served as mascot for the Salt Lake City Wings.

The 1943 Missouri all-state team:

C—Andy Yurchak, Hill Top Gardens.

— Rollie Kampheefner, Rupert Diecasters.

1B—John Sopcich, North American.

2B — Lollie Zielinski, North American.

3B—Albert Blake, Despain Motors.

SS—Ray Zielinski, North American.

LF—Andy Vida, Rupert.

CF—Ray Milans, Hill Top

RF—Walter Ebel, Rupert.

The certified umpires were W. J. Stumpoff, Harry Miller, Eddie Hogue and Whitney Harrison, all of Kansas City.

Congress Ready To Shelve Anti-Trust Laws On Baseball

WASHINGTON, May 10—(AP)—A Congressional committee which investigated organized baseball last year is about ready to shelve bills which would exempt the game from Federal anti-trust laws.

The committee has drawn up a report, still not official, which says it is "not unreasonable" to regard organized baseball as a monopoly. But it concludes the time is not at hand for Congress to step in.

This conclusion came in the face of a tentative finding that baseball's own code has not only failed to accomplish equality of competition "but also it has actively thwarted this objective."

The house judiciary committee is scheduled to meet Thursday to consider the draft report. Some minor revisions may be made, but it is unlikely there will be any major changes.

The group conducted extensive hearings last year, after introduction of several bills to exempt organized baseball from the anti-trust laws. They followed several developments which baseball men regard as a threat: suits attacking vaalidity of the reserve clause, and Justice Department inquiries into broadcasting of games and other aspects of the sport.

Game Misses Purpose

The tentative report says that baseball's own laws are "designed to promote economic and playing competition among clubs in the same league (but) are farther from accomplishing their purpose today than at any time in the past half century."

Commissioner Ford Frick and other big wheels of the game may not be pleased with the language used regarding baseball's controversial reserve clause and its rules on territorial rights.

The reserve clause—a provision in player contracts which gives to the club which first signs the player a continuous and exclusive right to his services—was accepted by the committee as the keystone of baseball law.

The tentative report says that if the reserve clause is used only to promote competition "it would seem unlikely that its use would be regarded as an abuse of monopoly power."

But, it goes on, if it were used "to stifle competition from leagues completely outside of organized baseball it might well be contended that it is being used by baseball to monoplize a part of interstate commerce."

Number of Suits Pend

A number of law suits are pending in various courts in which the legality of the reserve clause and other baseball rules is being challenged. Of these suits, the report says:

"It is important . . . to stress the fact that if legal issues are determined adversely to baseball, the courts must enforce the law even though they may believe that organized baseball cannot exist without the reserve clause and that millions of Americans would lose a desired form of diversion if it is held illegal."

The report calls baseball's rules regarding territorial rights "restrictive."

"The baseball map needs realignment, and competition has not benefitted from the weak financial condition of certain clubs," it says.

Good Time Flown East For Meets

NEW YORK—Harness racing's two winningest horses arrived here this week, their sights set on the all-time money winning record now held by the retired Proximity.

Pronto Don Takes To Air

The trotter Pronto Don and the pacer Good Time were flown in from the west coast and bedded down at Yonkers Raceway where each has a pair of $10,000 engagements in the next three weeks.

But a third equine passenger on the same plane may indirectly have something to say about the outcome of the dollar chase shaping up.

The pacer Dudley Hanover could prove to be a dominant factor as Good Time ($217,690) and Pronto Don ($192,622) tackle the tack of passing Proximity, the latter credited with $252,000 on U.S. Trotting Association record books.

Both Ponto Don and Dudley Hanover are owned by the Hayes Fair Acres Stable, DuQuoin, Ill. Good Time is the property of Bill Cane, Yonkers Racewayy president.

Dudley Hanover Is Trouble

On the surface it would appear that Good Time, by virtue of his present superior standing in the dollar column, would make the grade first. But the fly in the ointment is Dudley Hanover.

While Pronto Don was winning all four of his west coast starts—including the $30,000 Golden West Trot—in effortless fashion, Good Time was being beaten by Dudley Hanover in his two California outings. The Cane pacer finished fourth in his first start and then was second to Dudley in the $31,000 Golden West pace.

Thus, every time Dudley Hanover goes to the post there will be additional incentive to win. Not only will he be boosting his own earnings which now exceed $115,000, but he will be assuring that the winner's end of the purse doesn't fall to Good Time. All of which stands to make it simpler for Pronto Don to wrest the money crown from Proximity.

Pronto Don, Harness Horse of The Year in 1951, has won 14 in a row over a two-year period. And although he hasn't yet faced Star's Pride, the horse that beat him three times last season, the caliber of his trotting opposition cannot begin to compare with that confronting Good Time on the pacing side of the ledger.

At Yonkers, Pronto Don is slated to start in The Mt. Vernon (May 16) and The New Rochelle (May 23). Good Time and Dudley Hanover match strides in the Stamford (May 17) and The Bronx (May 24). Each event is worth $10,000.

CMSC Softballers To Play Leaders Here Tonight

The Central Missouri State College softball team will visit Sedalia at Center Park tonight with weather conditions permitting. The game will be called at 8 p.m.

Mel Ottinger, manager of the college group announced he has some of the top softball players from St. Louis and Jefferson City who are students at CMSC.

This is the first game of the season for the Leaders, their Friday night game with the Marshall K. of C. being called off due to a wet diamond and cold weather.

The Leaders are shaping up into an excellent team this season and anticipate being strong contenders for the lead of the league.

Frank Lueck who manages the Leaders has had an array of good talent out for the team this season and is endeavoring to make the best of selection of players.

The team plays every Thursday and Friday nights at Center Park starting this week. Tuesday night the K. of C. of Marshall are scheduled, while Friday night the Missouri Valley All-Stars are billed for a game.

Maternity Ward Most Happy Place

Nurse Says "I Love It" When Asked About Work

When a pretty young nurse, Miss Thelma Duffett, was asked if she liked being in charge of the maternity ward at Bothwell Hospital she said: "I love it". And when she was asked why she said: "Because its a happy place".

And so it is. A very happy place, for it means that another little life has come into the world—or is about to come. There is a thrill about the expectancy of the coming of a new baby—the mother who is anxiously awaiting the wee bundle of love is her own, her very own, whether it is the first or the tenth in her family.

The father, who could sit down and wait until he is told it is a boy or a girl—but usually doesn't—is thrilled too. As a rule he wears out his shoes pacing back and forth—and if he doesn't, he is in the dog house—so one young father found out. He had been working too hard on something he had to finish and instead of pacing the floor like fathers are supposed to do—he went to sleep. That was several years ago, but he never lived it down.

Then there is the doctor, who is always so pleased when the baby comes, it is always his baby, too, and he keeps a record in his heart of each and every little one he brings into the world and watches them as they grow—he never forgets a one.

It is the feeling of being a part of the joyous picture of life and love that makes being a nurse in the maternity ward such a wonderful thing.

Way down at the west end of the third floor the baby is born. Then the mother is brought back to a room at the east end. There isn't the fear of childbirth that was felt so deeply years ago because the pre-natal care, the sanitary conditions and skill have lessened the danger of giving birth to a child.

Now and then a baby is so tiny it has to be put in an incubator for days until it grows big enough and strong enough to be placed with the other babies in one of the 22 bassinetts in a room behind the big glass window. Here fathers, grandparents, brothers, sisters, aunts and uncles come to get a glimpse at the new born in their family, for no matter how many babies in the family each one is a pride and joy to all the relatives.

There they stand looking through the glass, each knowing that their baby is a finer looking baby than any of the rest. Even his little yawn shows more personality than the yawns of other babies about him or her.

The very happiest moment of all is when the mother sees her baby for the first time—there is no greater joy in life than this.

Then comes the time when mother and baby go home—that is an event, too. But there are times when baby stays a little longer and then they are called "boarder babies". That is because they are not strong enough to go home for a little while and so they are cared for at the hospitl.

The formula room is quite a place where the special food is prepared for the babies in the most sanitary way possible with all the modern conveniences at hand to give the babies just the right thing to make them fine, sturdy youngsters.

One little baby has become a permanent boarder, almost. In fact, he doesn't know when he is going to get home. His name is Nicholas Pryce Fowler, but he is called Nicky. The son of Mr. and Mrs. William Pryce Fowler, 1321 State Fair Boulevard, he was born at Bothwell Hospital more than a month ago—a big healthy boy who didn't need to hang around a hospital very long. But just about time he got ready to go home with his mother one of his sisters took the chickenipox. So Nicky was left at the hospital in the loving care of Miss Duffett, Miss Esther Meisenheimer and perhaps a few others—and the older he grows, the cuter he gets and the more the nurses love him.

Well, just about the time the first youngster in his family got over the chickenpox and a certain period of time went by to give the other one time to take it—that was just what she did. So Nicky still stays on waiting until everything is safe for him to go home. But in the meantime, Nicky is not worrying, he is getting plenty of attention at the hospital and as far as he is concerned he would just as soon stay on for a while.

Right now there are ten babies in the hospital. The boys seem to be in the majority—last month they lived up to the record as they have since the first of the year—there were 25 boys and 15 girls born in the month of April. But boys or girls—even twins and triplets—sach is a welcome little cherub in somebody's home.

An that is the picture in the maternity ward — life — love — human interest — the really happy spot in the hospital.

A new mother in the hospital cuddles her tiny girl to her heart and dreams of her future, for every woman, deep within, wants a daughter. Mrs. Wilma Bishop, wife of Shirley Bishop, 1624 West 18th, sits in the Bothwell Hospital holding her little Sharon Lynn, born May 3. There will be a change in her home, now, there is always a change when a beby comes for the family, life and love revolves around the new arrival. Especially the life of the mother changes. She will have less time and things for herself, more things to do—but with it the greatest of gifts, the glory of motherhood. (Photo by Padgett.)

Red Cross Has Important Role With Hospital

Nurses' Aides, Gray Ladies Do Much Work With Patients

The Red Cross plays an important role at Bothwell Hospital providing nurse's aides and gray ladies.

Nurse's aides are women interested in nursing who can meet personal, educational and physical requirements.

They work as assistants to graduate professional nurses; take temperature, pluse, respiration, give morning and evening care; prepare and set up treatment trays for sterilization; assist with unsterile dressings, keep supplies and equipment in order.

The following Sedalia women are certified nurse's aides: Mrs. Frank Armstrong, Mrs. Alice Bailey, Mrs. W. T. Book, Mrs. George F. Chambers, Mrs. K. H. Eisert, Mrs. Ralph McCarty, Miss Marie Fritz, Mrs. Harry Lambirth, Mrs. Fred Lange, Miss Rosalie Mountjoy, Mrs. W. J. Mateja, Mrs. H. E. Richardson.

Gray ladies are volunteers who under professional guidance provide helpful services for the sick and convalescent.

They assist patients with correspondence; undertake shopping errands; act as guides to visiting friends and relatives; make the patients more comfortable; and assist when trays are served.

Sedalia gray ladies include: Mrs. A. A. Ferguson, chairman, Mrs. E. S. Gold, co-chairman, Mrs. G. W. Anderson, Mrs. Herman Bloess, Mrs. Harvey Brimmer, Mrs. Roy Bowers, Mrs. Nolan Bricken, Mrs. Roy I. Coplen, Miss Josephine Chipman, Mrs. C. D. Demand, Mrs. Norvel Dirck, Mrs. J. F. Downs.

Quisenberry 4-H'ers Will Give Program

Quisenberry 4-H Club met May 5 and made final plans for Rural Life Sunday. It was decided to go to church services and then have a basket dinner at Liberty Park.

The next meeting will be June 2 at the home of Sylvia Schupp.

Open House This Afternoon

For National Hospital Week

Visit Bothwell Memorial Hospital 2 to 5

In observance of National Hospital Day, and to show the people of this community the facilities being offered for the care of patients, the Bothwell Memorial Hospital will hold open house from 2 to 5 o'clock this afternoon.

All who visit the hospital—often called "The most important building in town—your hospital"—will be shown how the big building, with its many parts and divisions, is operated.

The hospital is a $280,000-per-year business owned by the city, but not costing the city any money in taxes. Patients provide all the financing except for about $2,500 per year for equipment which comes as dividends from the hospital's stock in the Bothwell Hotel.

Taking part in National Hospital Day, the local institution joins hundreds of hospitals across the nation in perpetuating the memory of Florence Nightengale as well as in displaying to the public the facilities at hand. It was Miss Nightengale who sponsored the annual Hospital Day observance at its beginning back in 1921.

100 Bed Capacity

With 100 beds, in the rooms and wards, and 22 bassinets in the nursery, the regular capacity of the hospital is classed at 122. However, in emergency periods there are ten beds ready to be placed in the halls and many other beds could be arranged in the spacious hallways if it proved necessary. There are only few occasions, however, when the beds in the halls are needed.

For the patients there are many other rooms for service.

There are two operating rooms, an emergency room, several rooms for the x-ray and laboratory work, a large kitchen, offices, record filing rooms, furnace and maintenance room, linen closets, dining rooms, just to mention a few.

James Franks, the efficient superintendent, and the members of the board of directors, as well as all the employees and a vast majority of the patients and their families, are proud of the facilities which are available for the treatment of almost all ailments.

An iron lung is on hand when needed. The baby air lock, into which all newborn babies are placed for a few hours to help them with their breathing, is a new addition. A portable x-ray unit, also new, is a proud possession.

These, and other items, have been gifts to the hospital and provide unsually fine services. There are many others.

Just recently Kenneth Middleton added a new piece of valuable equipment that filled a great need. He gave the institution a walk-in refrigerator where more than a week's supply of perishable foods can be kept. (There is, near to this new box, an ice-cube making machine that means the patients can have cool drinks quickly and easily throughout the year).

Redecorate In Pastel Shades

The rooms are attractive and are being made more so this year through painting. When the work is completed the hospital no longer will have the starry white appearance of a hospital. Redecorating has started and the colors are pastels in several shades.

Gas burners in the furnaces provide an even, clean heat for the large building and the maintenance room, not often seen by the visitors, is a busy workshop that adds much to the efficiency of operation and even to the comfort of patients.

Handling all the laundry from such a place is a big task, too, yet few who are there ever see or hear about the laundry situation. There is a large chute extending from basement to third floor. Into this all dirty laundry is dropped, to be collected in the basement, bundled and sent to the laundry.

Chute For Waste Material

Another chute handles the waste material. Waste baskets are emptied into this metal-lined, three-story room, through doors to the several floors. Because fires can and do start from the waste materials, a sprinkler system has been installed and when a fire starts the sprinklers have it out in seconds.

Those are typical out-of-sight, off-the-scene services so necessary for hospital patients. They are provided in the same manner that complete records of all patients' cases are maintained—without fanfare, but with the idea of service.

Board Named By City

Members of the board of directors, named by the mayor and City Council, include: Fred M. Lange, president; William A. Schlen, vice-president; Claude Boul, secretary; Ray Jiedel, treasurer; Glenn Lewis, Walter E. Dobel and Paul Berthouex, members.

Recognition of the hospital is given through its being accredited by the American College of Surgeons, which requires high standards. Further recognition is in the hospital's acceptance for many of the group hospitalization plans.

Built in 1929, and opened in October of that year, the hospital will celebrate its own 23rd anniversary later this year.

The active and courtesy staff of the Bothwell Memorial Hospital: Dr. W. A. Beckmeyer, Dr. W. E. Bess, Dr. W. T. Bishop, Dr. J. W. Boger, Dr. C. H. Brady, Dr. A. J. Campbell, Mr. J. B. Snavely, Dr. C. G. Stauffacher, Dr. C. B. Trader and Dr. A. L. Walter, all of Sedalia; Dr. D. H. Glenn and Dr. T. S. Reger, Warsaw; Dr. G. W. Grove, Knob Noster; Dr. Jack Gunn Jr., and Dr. Ruth Kauffman, Versailles; Dr. H. A. Hite, Green Ridge; Dr. R. H. Jones, Sweet Springs; Dr. P. T. Siegel, Smithton.

Consulting staff: Dr. Albert E. Upsher, Independence; Dr. John W. Walker and Dr. Ira H. Lockwood, Kansas City.

Bothwell Memorial Hospital

Here are Linda Lou Ream and Linda Ann Ream, minus their tonsils, and even if the two girls did think it would be fun to be in the hospital all by themselves they were mighty glad to have their mommies with them when it came time to have the tonsils out, and afterwards. On the left is Mrs. James W. Ream with her little Linda Lou and on the right is Mrs. Winston Ream with her little Linda Ann. The little girls are in the same grade at Horace Mann School and agree on almost everything, but as to which has the nicest mother, well, there is a difference in opinion. (Padgett Photo.)

Mothers

She may be a young mother with a baby brand new,
Feeling the joy that all young mothers do
When she sees the wee bit of humanity stir
And knows this little life belongs to her.

She may be a mother of a child in school,
Serving as God's own special tool
To shape the pattern, as best she can,
Of this life He gave her, to His own plan.

She may be a mother of youth just grown,
Watching them start on their lives alone,
Watching with mingled pride and dread,
Go down the pathway that lies ahead.

She may be a mother who is growing old,
Feeling that she is shut out in the cold.
Or she may feel the love she has given reflect
In a deeper feeling of love and respect.

She may be ill in a hospital, too,
When Mother's Day comes, and a little bit blue,
But the cards, the flowers and the gifts that tell
Of her children's love will help her get well.

If she is a mother—the age matters not—
Not one little thing has she ever fogot,
She remembers the bright spots and sometimes the pain—
For being a mother is sunshine and rain.

Her sons and her daughters may be good or bad.
Her life may be happy, her life may be sad,
But her love never falters from that day of birth
Until her body goes back to the earth.

Hazel N. Lang

No mother could ever have more joy from her family than Mrs. R. E. Scott, 1305 East Ninth, who is pictured with three of her four daughters. The other daughter lives in another town, but for the three here, Ruth, who is Mrs. Maurice Wasson, left, standing, Ruby, Mrs. Fred Brummet, right, and Opal, Mrs. Earl Payne, seated by her mother, run in and out of the home of their parents all the time, and once a week there is always a family dinner. Too, they all went over and helped their mother clean house. The Mother's day gifts shown are not all she will get, either. There are sons in the family, grandchildren and even great grandchildren. X-Ray Department One Of Finest In State

The John H. Bothwell Memorial Hospital has one of the finest equipped x-ray departments of any hospital in Missouri. All equipment is practically new and of the latest design. It is a "round the clock" department of the hospital, especially on emergencies. Routine x-rays are scheduled through the day hours.

The equipment includes a 200 M. A. General Electric x-ray unit, of the latest design, with a capacity of 100,000 volts, a double focus rotating anode x-ray tube. This machine is also equipped with a special tube for fluorocopy examinations, and a Shultz spot film attachment used to take pictures during special fluoroscopic procedure. It is also possible to take one, two or four pictures on one film, depending on the size or the type of picture needed for any particular examination.

This is possible because of the fact that the control stand is preset, and merely by pressing a lever the film shifts into position and this automatically shifts the control over the x-ray and the picture is then taken. The film is moved out of position and the machine automatically switches back to fluoroscopy and the examination continues without any delay whatsoever.

There is also a 30 M. A. U. S. Army portable x-ray field unit with a capacity of 85,000 volts. This is used on patients who cannot be moved safely from their bed to the x-ray department.

The portable unit was made possible to the hospital by Mrs. Fred M. Lange, daughter of the late Dr. Guy Titsworth, prominent physician of Sedalia, who died recently. Mrs. Lange is the wife of Fred M. Lange, 917 West Third, who is president of the Bothwell Memorial Hospital Board.

The dark room consists of a developing tank with a capacity of 25-gallons of running water and two insert tanks of five-gallons each. One small tank is used for developing solution and the other for fixing solution. It also contains a refrigeration unit for cooling and maintaining the dark room solutions to the specified temperatures for processing of the films.

The x-ray record is individually kept. Each patient x-rayed has a file card containing the following information: name and address, age, date of x-ray, type of x-ray and referring doctors. All files have a serial number to conform with the patient's identification file.

All films are read in the x-ray department with a typewritten record made, one copy going to the referring doctor, one on the patient's chart and the third into a master file. The master file is kept alphabetically, making it easy to check a report on a moments notice, and these are kept for one year, after which they are made into a book form.

All file cards are filed alphabetically while all x-rays are filed numerically. The x-rays are kept on file for at least five years.

Before patients are x-rayed, they must first be referred to the department by a doctor belonging to the hospital staff or a medical doctor approved by the hospital staff. No patient is permitted to take films from the hospital.

The x-ray department, for the first time since it was built, underwent a major remodelling in 1947, with the dark rooms being changed, more space made available for the x-ray equipment, and another room made available for consultation by the attending physician where x-rays are read.

The x-ray department is in charge of James Sherman, Broadway Arms, who came to Sedalia in May 1947. He is the x-ray technician. Sherman has had six and a half years experience in this work. He is a member of the American Registry of X-Ray Technicans.

The department is under the direction of Dr. Ira H. Lockwood, Dr. Arthur B. Smith and Dr. John W. Walker, Inc., Kansas City, and is operated in conjunction with the hospital.

Dr. Walker comes to Sedalia each Friday, doing special examinations for fluroscopic patients, and reads all x-rays while here, drafting written reports on each. He also gives radium service, treating all type of skin lesions and different types of cancer.

He is one of the consultants for the Pettis County Cancer Clinic which is held the fourth Friday of each month.

Dr. Lockwood, Dr. Smith and Dr. Walker are all members of the American College of Radiology and of the American Board of Radiology. They have had charge of the x-ray department since 1947.

Mr. Sherman reports since he has taken over this department the number of x-rays have increased between eight and ten times over the operations prior to 1947, with excellent results to the patients, the doctors and service, as a whole, to the community.

Preparing 350 Meals Per Day Proves Big Task

One of the most interesting places in the hospital is the long room, or rather two rooms, where the meals are prepared for the patients and employees.

Mrs. Gladys Scott, who has been employed at the hospital 17 years, is now the dietician in charge and it is no little job. Under her is a high school girl, who is getting the groundwork as a future dietician, but soon she will leave and another girl will be needed to take her place. There are several other women under Mrs. Scott for there must be about 350 meals prepared each day.

Preparing the meals for that many people does not mean that one menu can be followed. Every tray must be prepared especially for a special patient. There are light diets, also-poor diets, reducing diets, bland diets, ulcer diets, diabetic diets and many others, and a dietician must know just exactly what kind of diet each patient must have and figure out as appetizing a menu as possible.

For those on the general diet it isn't so hard, and they are given a preference. That is, the menu is always taken to them for the next day. They select from the menu what they would like by putting a checkmark. If there is something on there they do not want, they say so and it is left off of their tray next day.

Sometimes a patient would rather have something else and that is taken care of, too. Last Sunday fried chicken was on the menu but one woman didn't want fried chicken so she asked for ham and she was given ham.

Serving hours are 7 a. m., 11 a. m. and 4 p. m. And right before those hours the kitchen is a busy place, indeed, with big black trays all over the place being filled with dishes by about a dozen women, all working to get the right food on the right tray. Then the trays are put on big carts and nurses' helpers, dressed in spotless white uniforms, go through the hospital distributing the trays.

If anybody has a birthday anniversary while in the hospital, and the hospital staff finds out about it the patient receives a little special attention. A cake is baked and is taken in on that patient's tray.

"Do they like the food as a rule?" Mrs. Scott was asked.

Mrs. Scott smiled. "Most of them do", she said, "some of them would never like anything—no matter what it was."

Medical Auxiliary Hostesses at Open House

It was in May, 1942, that the Women's Auxiliary to the Pettis County Medical Society was organized with the wife, mother or unmarried daughter of a physician in good standing in the Pettis County Medical Society, or the widow or unmarried daughter of a deceased physician, who was in good standing in the Pettis County Medical Society at the time of his death, eligible for membership.

The objects of the auxiliary are: first, through its members to extend the aims of the medical profession to all organizations which look to the advancement of health and education; second, to fulfill such functions as may be needed at local, county, district and state medical meetings; third, to do such work as may be approved from time to time by the Pettis County Medical Society; and fourth, to promote acquaintanceship among physicians' families that fellowship may increase and at all times to stimulate a feeling of local cooperation.

The auxiliary holds four regular meetings a year in the homes of the members.

The newly elected officers for a two-year period beginning Oct., 1952, are: Mrs. Gordon Stauffacher, president; Mrs. F. B. Long, vice-president; Mrs. E. C. Snavely, secretary; Mrs. C. D. Siegel, treasurer, and Mrs. D. P. Dyer, parliamentarian.

Past presidents of the auxiliary are Mrs. A. J. Campbell, Mrs. D. P. Dyer, Mrs. A. L. Walter, Mrs. H. A. Hite and Mrs. C. H. Brady.

The auxiliary at present has 28 members.

In the past the auxiliary has sold war bonds, sponsored the nurses' recruitment program, assisted in Red Cros work and many other things.

Sunday, May 11, they are serving as co-hostesses at the Bothwell Hospital in observance of National Hospital Week. Members have been busy the past few days making cakes and cookies for the tea. Some were collecting the boxes of cookies, soem were getting the bouquets ready for decorating the hospital, and some were fixing the flower arrangement for the tea table in the dining room. During the open house the members of the auxiliary will be in the hospital assisting, some on the various floors greeting the guests and answering questions, and some will be in the dining room serving or assisting in some manner.

Laboratory Facilities at Hospital Make Possible All Lab Work Here at Low Costs

The laboratory facilities at the Bothwell Hospital have been modernized and enlarged since taken over by Dr. Albert E. Upsher, Kansas City, in September of 1950. The new arrangement affords excellent laboratory service to the patients of the hospital.

The laboratory department has been equipped with the latest in stainless steel cabinets, built with glass and airtight sliding doors. The latest in scientific equipment used in medical clinical laboratories has been added. The latest in lighting also, and refrigeration have been included.

With such equipment, the technicians are now capable and able to do any laboratory procedure necessary and at two-thirds the costs of anything equal done in the cities. This alone is a big benefit to those of the communiy who need such service.

The hospital blood bank has been set up and is being very successfully operated by the technicians of the laboratory.

L. Christian "Chris" Moore, Ruby Lea Apartments, is in charge assisted by Miss Dorothy Jensen, 316 West Broadway, both medical technologists. They are assisted by Mrs. Jessie Coulter, 810 South Marvin, and Mrs. Edna Holman, 643 East 15th.

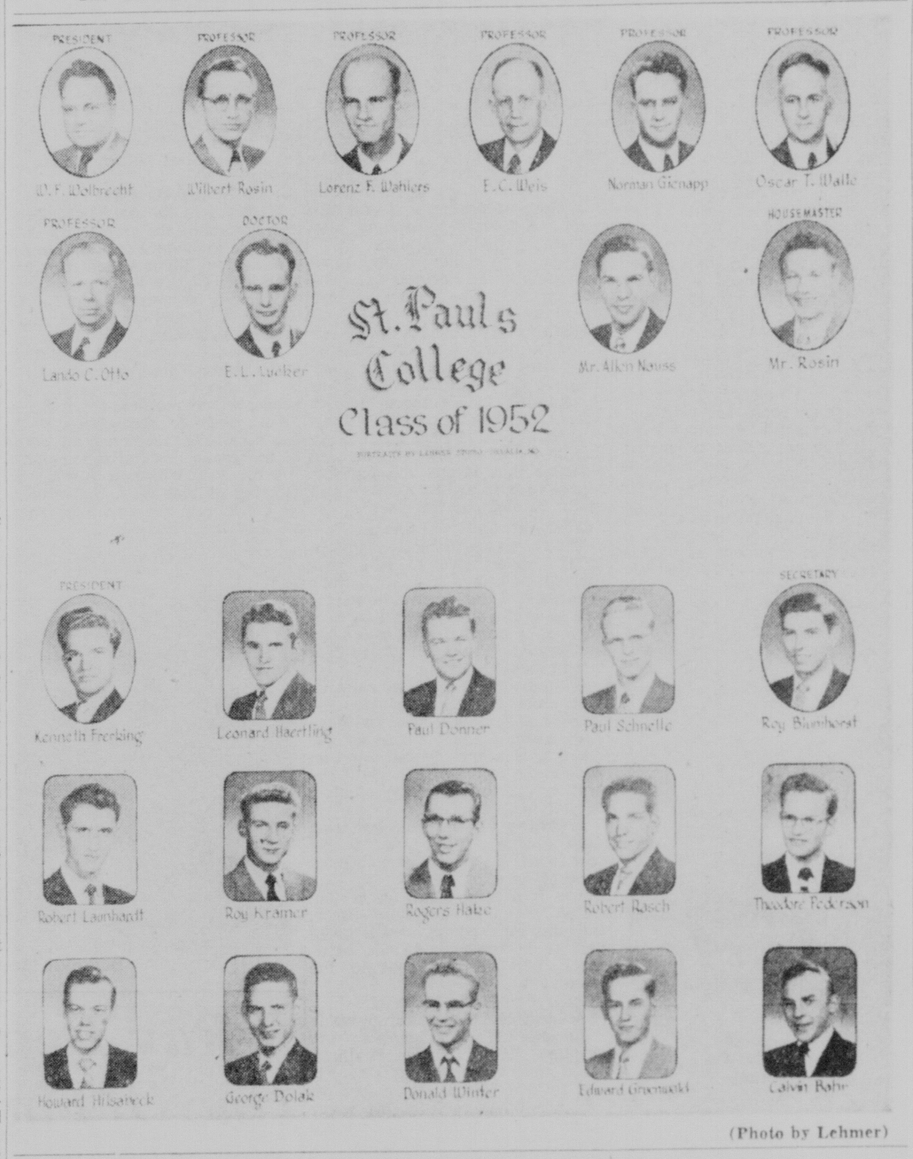

Mr. Moore received his basic and college training in science at the University of Alabama, University of Tennessee, and the University of Texas. He is also a graduate nurse of Emporia, Kas., and on x-ray technician. He trained at Birmingham, Ala. He has been practicing technology for the past 15 years.

Miss Jensen graduated from Madison College, Nashville, Tenn., where she received her BS degree in chemistry. She has been practicing for the past six years.

Dr. Albert E. Upsher, who owns the laboratory, is a graduate of Baylor College of Medicine, Dallas, Tex., in 1939. He did post graduate training in pathology at the Kansas City General Hospital from 1930 to 1945; was pathologist at St. Mary's Hospital in Kansas City from 1945 to 1950; and pathologist at the Independence Sanitarium and Hospital, Independence, from 1945 until the present time.

Since 1950, Dr. Upsher has been pathologist of the laboratories at Lexington Memorial Hopital, Lexington, Mo., Warrensburg Medical Clinic, Warrensburg. He has been head of the department of pathology at the University of Kansas City dental college since 1949 and has been at the Duncan Laboratory in Kansas City since March 1951.

Dr. Loraine E. Schultz, an associate of Dr. Upsher in the above hospitals and in the prractice of laboratory medicine and pathology, is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin Medical School, Madison, Wis., graduating in 1944. She took graduate training in pathology at the Research Hospital in Kansas City, 1945 through 1948 and was pathologist at Research Clinic from 1948 to 1951.

Now Is Good Time to Plan How to Keep Your Marbles

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Is life too much for you? Has care got you down?

Since this is National Mental Health Week, now is as good a time as any to figure what to do about keeping all your marbles.

Statisticians estimate that one of every 12 children born in America today will spend some part of his life in a mental institution. This is a frightening fact.

Going to a psychiatrist isn't the solution. There are only about 6,000 psychiatrists in the country. Even if patients kept their couches warm around the clock, there are too few of these professional mind probers to listen to all the people who want to tell their troubles. Also, getting to their ear is a bit expensive for the average purse.

What is the answer? Well, let's look at the situation, and consider the possible remedies.

There are two ways to go through life—enjoying yourself to death, or worrying yourself to death. Most people are firmly convinced they will never die of pleasure and as a matter of fact the very idea frightens them. So they slowly worry themselves crazy, or fret themselves gradually into a grave, borne down by the weight of accumulated disappointments and frustrated ambitions.

The big fallacy of the human race is that it is spendthrift of its happiness, but hoards worry privately like a miser.

This is all wrong. You should, of course, share your happiness; but, equally, you should share your worries. A happiness grows with sharing; a worry diminishes.

We've had share-the-work programs and share-the-weath programs. What we need now is a good, nationwide, share-your-worries program. People plagued by similar emotional, physical or financial woes could band together on the same principle as the members of Alcoholics Anonymous, a signally successful organization.

Some folks might be reluctant to share their private worries with neighbors or friends. In that case they could team up with strangers who knew nothing about them personally but suffered the same problems.

The advantage of these share-your-worries clubs is that they would put each worry in its proper perspective. The thing about your own worry is that it always looks bigger to you than it does to everybody else.

Tell your worry to another person and, somehow, it doesn't loom quite so large even to you. And the one you told it to? He can take your worry and a dozen other worries like it from a dozen other people and go right on enjoying his meals as he did before.

Automotive Hint

A large amount of gasoline is wasted by the average driver. Sources of waste include improper carburetor adjustment, unnecessary idling or racing, high-speed travel, neglect of lubrication, leaking piston rings, sticking valves, soft tires, and many others.

Reds Ban 'Sideline' Enterprises

HONG KONG (AP)—The Chinese Communists are out to liquidate a sort of free enterprise system that grew up inside the party organization during the civil war.

Many communist political and military units, stationed far afield, developed farms, factories and even heavy industry centers. Surpluses were sold at a profit, usually exclusively for the Communist big shots who ran them.

Now the Peiping regime has told them to turn the businesses over to the central government. The Peiping party mouthpiece, Liberation Daily, says such enterprises must go because they are susceptible to "bourgeois erosion."

Natural Curiosity

One of nature's curiosities is the difference in size between a mother kangaroo and her young. The mother stands four or more feet high and weighs about 200 pounds. The young, when first born, are a little more than an inch long and weigh less than a mouse.

A series of tests showed that the average mileage of cars equipped with clean spark plugs was 18.63 miles to the gallon, against 16.75 when the plugs were dirty and worn.

Doctor Will Test Theory Of Survival

PARIS (AP) — A young French doctor who plays the cello an hour a day for amusement is about to play at being shipwrecked for two months to test his theories of survival at sea.

He is 27-year-old Dr. Alain Louis Bombard, who intends to drift across the Atlantic Ocean on a floating "laboratory" raft with four companions living on nothing but seafood.

For thirst, they will drink the doctor's own recipe of seawater mixed with juices pressed from fish with a fruit squeezer. He says it tastes something like French mineral water.

Already a double veteran at crossing the English Channel — once as a swimmer and once aboard a rubber liferaft — Dr. Bombard estimates the 4,000-mile trip will require two months from Gibraltar to the Antilles by way of the Canary Islands and the Cape Verde Islands.

The doctor's craft, now under construction in Rotterdam, Holland, will be a special Polynesian-type raft—double parallel floats connected by planks. A cabin amidships will shelter bunks, a collection of books and the doctor's laboratory.

At sea, the raft will proceed under sail. It also will have a small auxiliary motor for use in entering ports or in case of grave emergency. The takeoff is set from Gibraltar, sometime around June 1.

For this trip, the doctor's principal equipment will be fishing tackle and the fruit squeezer.

What will he and the crew be doing all the time? The doctor explains:

"We will fish and take pictures. As for myself, every other day I will have to make tests of my companions and myself to study every slight reaction to our special mode of life. Besides, a survivor should do as little work as possible."

Canada Builds Jet Airfield

NORTH BAY, Ont. (AP)—Some 600 workers and about 18 million dollars are being used to carve Canada's first all-weather jet air station out of a 6,000-acre plateau three miles northeast of here.

The giant station, expected to be completed late this year will become a permanent link in the defense of Canada's far-flung northern approaches.

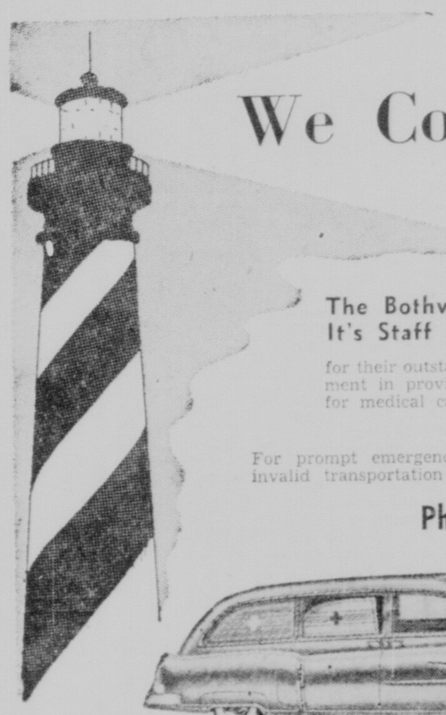

The RCAF moved in last September and has been carrying out training operations.

and to better acquaint the people of this community with its operation

Sedalia's

BOTHWELL HOSPITAL

will hold

OPEN HOUSE

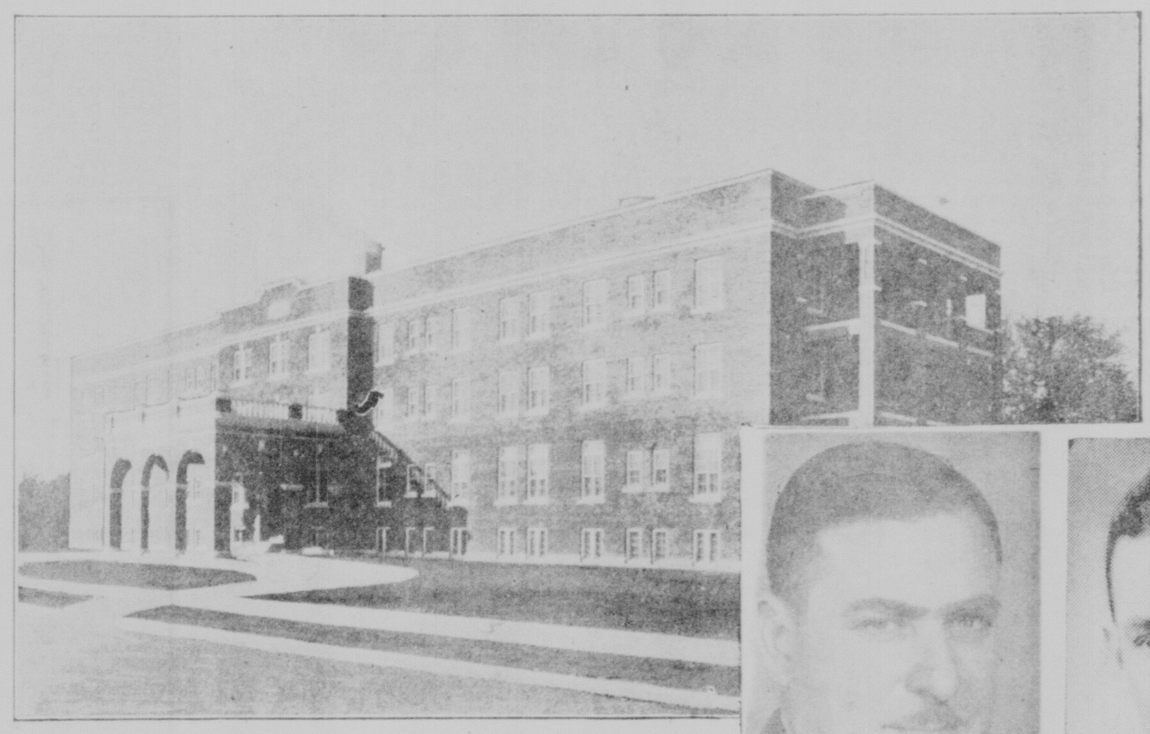

This Afternoon—Sunday, May 11th

From 2:00 to 5:00 o'clock

The Gray Ladies Service group of the Red Cross, under the direction of Mrs. A. A. Ferguson, chairman, and Mrs. E. S. Gold, co-chairman, will receive and escort Bothwell Hospital visitors for this open house occasion. The forty-five ladies who comprise this corps will escort the visitors from the third floor to the basement on a complete tour of the building. They will explain the arrangement and functions of the hospital.

In the basement dining room, the Pettis County Medical Society Auxiliary, under the direction of Mrs. C. G. Stauffacher, will serve refreshments to all visitors.

This cordial invitation to visit the Bothwell Hospital today is extended by the members of the hospital board and the staff and management of the hospital.

Facts Concerning Bothwell Hospital

The Bothwell Hospital was completed in the fall of 1929 and was put into operation in October of that year. It his a one hundred bed capacity and twenty-two bassinets. There are two operating rooms, an iron lung, a baby air lock, stationary and portable x-ray units and other technical equipment.

Twenty-one medical doctors of Sedalia, with Dr. C. Gordon Stauffacher as chief of staff, compose the medical staff of the Bothwell. Medical doctors from Knob Noster, Versailles, Green Ridge, Sweet Springs, Warsaw and Smithton are on the courtesy staff of the hospital. A consulting staff of three doctors from Independence and Kansas City round out the complete medical team.

The laboratory of the Bothwell Hospital is under the direction of Doctor Albert E. Upsher and Doctor Loraine E. Schultz. Local laboratory technicians are L. Christian Moore, M.T., and Miss Dorothy Jensen, M.T., who have as their helpers Mrs. Jessie Coulter and Mrs. Edna Holman.

Nineteen full time registered nurses are employed by the hospital and they have some forty-six helpers, a housekeeper, dietician and librarian to assist them with their work. The hospital also has four persons employed as office personnel, a maintenance supervisor, engineer and five others employed in its efficient maintenance operation.

The Bothwell Hospital Board of Trustees which is pictured at right looks after the business arrangements of the hospital. This board meets regularly on the second Monday of each month, and have called meetings when situations requiring immediate attention arise. Membership to the board is made by appointment and members serve without pay.

James Franks has been superintendent of the Bothwell Hospital for the past several years and has ably managed its operation. During the 12-month period, May 1, 1951, to May 1, 1952, 2,519 patients were admitted to the hospital for a total of 20,950 days; 126,805 meals were served and the income per hospital day was $13.28 which was two cents less than the operating cost of $13.30 per patient per day. Other operating facts will be found in a news article in this section of today's edition of the Democrat-Capital.

The Bothwell Hospital staff strives to serve the people of the Sedalia community in a most efficient manner. The motto of the hospital staff is "Get to Know Your Hospital—It's Your Friend." Bothwell Hospital visiting hours are 2:00 to 4:00 o'clock each afternoon and 7:00 to 8:30 o'clock each evening.

Today your Bothwell Hospital staff urges you to visit "The Most Important Building in Town—Your Hospital."

Nurses' Aides Capped Here

Will Do Service Assisting Patients At Hospital Here

The newest class of Red Cross Nurse's was capped last week by Mrs. W. D. Steele, R. N., and will soon go to work at Bothwell Hospital on a regular schedule. This is the first class to be trained by the Pettis County chapter since War II.

The training requires 80 hours, and is the longest required for any of the Red Cross service group. Mrs. Steele gave the class the basic training, and Mrs. Gordon Potter, R. N., supervised the hospital training.

Mrs. Herbert Zoernig, chairman of nurse's aides, graciously opened her home for the capping exercises, which climaxed the period of training which the volunteers have just completed. She was assisted by Mrs. Ralph Dow, co-chairman. The following received their caps: Mrs. Dick Van Dyne, Mrs. K. H. Eisert, Mrs. W. T. Book, Mrs. I. H. Lehmer, Mrs. Neal Reyburn and Mrs. W. J. Mateya. These aides will work at the Bothwell Hospital, the cancer clinic, the blood bank and will give various other services.

Two members of the first nurse's aide class trained in 1942, Mrs. Fred Lange and Mrs. A. A. Studebaker, who have been faithful in their service and who have the largest number of hours, were present to see the newest class capped.

Dr. Charles D. Osborne, James Franks, superintendent of Bothwell Hospital, Mrs. Frances Jenkins and Mrs. Elliott Stafford Jr., members of the nurse's aid committee, attended, together with Mrs. Harold Dean, volunteer service groups, and Mrs. Henry Menefee, co-chairman.

Refugees Study America

PITTSBURGH (AP)— Right now the "Blue and White Club" has 72 members—all displaced persons from Europe. Next month there may be more or less depending on how fast the member are absorbed into the American way of life.

As soon as the newcomers learn a little of the language, the customs and the peculiarities of the country they drop out. That's good news to the social workers who operate the organization. The club is sponsored by the Young Men's and Women's Hebrew Association. It was organized in 1949.

When someone asked if people in Europe realize what America is like, one refugee member pondered and said: "The people back there know, but they can't believe it. I can hardly believe it myself."

Irish Cop Wears Night Stick Like Cane or Feels Undressed

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP)—An Irish cop on his Dublin beat wears his night stick as some other gentleman would a cane. Not only is it ornamental but he'd also feel undressed without one.

In front of the Gresham Hotel on busy O'Connell Street on a Saturday night a policeman stood. He looked all of his 6 feet, 175 pounds as he watched many of his countrymen who had come to window-shop on Dublin's main street, or to chat with the gentlefolk who sometime pass the time in the one or more public taverns.

He appeared to have a moment to himself and so it came to pass that the patrolman on his beat heard himself asked the following question:

"How often, Mr. Officer, do you find it necessary to use that night-stick? On unruly ones, I mean."

Mr. Officer thought and thought again and then ventured the reply: "Very seldom."

Pursued as to the last time he used the truncheon, the policeman searched his memory and finally recalled:

"Six, or it may have been eight years ago."

The occasion was some sort of political demonstration. The people themselves rarely get out of hand, it appears, because the Irish apparently are quiet, law-abiding citizens who don't go in for rowdy activities, even on Saturday nights.

The young patrolman—he said he could not give his name—had been on the force 10 years. He had two uncles who had been on a police force in America—New York, of all places. One of them, Mike, came here during the war. "I think he's retired now; I lost track of him, but I heard he was wounded in some skirmish in New York."

They rarely have "skirmishes" in Dublin. Last December three men stuck up the Provincial bank on Thomas Street and shot a cashier. They were captured quickly and got 14, 10 and eight years. They still talk about that shooting affray—it was the first criminal gunplay in Dublin in 14 years.

Dublin cops don't carry guns. Most of their work centers about traffic problems and on Saturday nights helping those who have celebrated too much get back on their feet and home to bed. Only disorderly ones find themselves taken to prison and they usually get let off when they sleep it off. Four drunks a night per cop is the average.

The interior of continents usually have greater extremes of heat and cold than do islands surrounded by the sea.

Arches were used in buildings in the Tigris-Euphrates valley as early as 4,000 B. C.

Deer-Killing Dogs

VICTORIA, B. C. (AP)—Deer are faced with a new danger—undisciplined domestic dogs.

George Stevenson, provincial game inspector, reported the dogs are becoming more savage than mountain lions during some seasons of the year. He said the Game Department had killed 12 dogs in two weeks recently.

The dogs go up into high ground near the shore and chase the deer down on the beach, then bite a hole in the stomach or throat and leave the deer to die.

When the snow is deep, they chase deer until the deer is exhausted, then kill them and leave them. "In very rare cases, the dogs make a meal of the meat," Stevenson said.

Heavy water is about 10 per cent heavier than ordinary water.

A water molecule consists of two atoms of hydrogen combined with one atom or oxygen.

Clean-Up of Sex, Crime Ordered In Many Fields

WASHINGTON (AP) —Congressional investigations of radio and television programs and books, magazines and comic books may be ordered next week to clean up over-emphasis on sex and crime where it exists.

Resolutions calling for the probes have been approved by the House Rules Committee and given the go-ahead by the House leadership for a vote next week.

The radio - television inquiry would be conducted by the House Interstate Committee.

A special nine-member committee would investigate books, magazines and comic books.

Objective of both proposals is to drive off the air waves and off the bookstands "immoral, obscene or otherwise offensive matter" and programs or publications that place "improper emphasis on crime, violence and corruption."

Both committees would have subpoena powers to summon witnesses and authority to recommend corrective legislation if found necessary.

Supporters disclaim any intent to set up a congressional "censorship" over what may or may not be published or broadcast.

What they are concerned about, they explain, is the growing popularity among juveniles of obscene literature available at low prices and in corner stores throughout the nation.

Tale of Office Wolf, That Romeo of the Water Cooler

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—No history of the romance of our times is complete without a chapter on that Romeo of the water cooler—the office wolf.

He is the Peck's bad boy of the business world but no office is the same without one or two.

What is an office wolf? In pulp love tales he is luridly pictured as a prowling scoundrel evilly plotting to lead astray a poor but innocent.

In fact, however, his teeth are less sharp than they are in fiction. Often, alas, his teeth are as false.

The average office wolf is as harmless as a tame skunk. He isn't really a wolf at all—he is just a mouse with great yearnings. Usually he is a married man with a wife at home who understands him only too thoroughly. That is why he paws his way around the office in the romantic hope of finding some girl who will be kind enough to misunderstand him a little. If there is anything a man can't stand, it is to be understood all the time.

One of the delusions of the office wolf is that his overtures to the hired girls are a guilty secret, known only to him. The truth is, of course, that every conversation in the privacy of the ladies' room starts off:

"Well, Mabel, what did old Wolfie whisper to you this morning? Isn't he a perfect scream? He'll be the death of me yet—from laughing."

The girls get a big kick out of comparing the techniques the office wolf tries in his daily rounds. If he ever realized this, he would dwindle quickly into an office mouse. That would be too bad because, by and large, he does bring a sense of mild adventure and fun into the workaday routine.

I don't pretend to be an authority on office wolves. But girls I have consulted on the subject say they generally fall into three classes—bookkeepers, junior executives and vice presidents. There is also the puppy love for the boss's secretary.

"Bookkeepers want to take you to a horse race on their day off," said one girl. "Junior executives are careful wolves—they want to meet you for a cocktail after work at some out-of-the-way sidestreet bar.

"And vice presidents? Well, they are the pinchers. You have to get out of their way. But I really feel sorry for vice presidents. They are such frustrated men. I guess they really lead lonely lives."

This young lady said the two standard feminine formulas for dealing with office wolves are the classic cold shoulder treatment or the play-dumb answer: "Gee, Mr. Jones, I don't get what you mean."

But there is a simpler and even more effective way of handling the more persistent type.

"Just keep him at the office cooler some morning and whisper to him that you love him desperately and can't live without him," she said. "That will frighten any office wolf out of his skin."

That is the true measure of the breed. The office wolf visualizes himself as a gay Casanova going through life being endlessly fascinating. He may think he is searching for romance. But there is one thing he is sure he isn't looking for—and that is more responsibility.

But the wise boss will always be sure to hire at least one office wolf, purely as a morale factor. He keeps girls amused. Women are always happier if there is a foolish man around for them to laugh at.

A Tribute To Mothers!

Abraham Lincoln said, "All that I am, or ever can be, I owe to my mother." And that, we think, sums up what all of us think about our mothers. It isn't only on Mother's Day that we should revere the name and memory of Mother. Every minute of every day we should unstintingly show our love and endeavor to make her life easier and happier. If your Mother has passed on, show that her memory still lives in your heart. Visit the cemetery frequently and lay lovely living flowers on the sacred spot where she sleeps forever. This will be a token payment of all she did for you.

Women's Impact Will Be Felt In Fall Voting

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

When women really get riled up, look out. Anything can happen.

It might be a national women's political party. It might even be a woman candidate for President. It most ceratinly is going to be a tremendous feminine impact in the coming presidential campaigns.

Growing activity of women in politics is evidence by the fact that in many sections, such as New York City, there are for the first time more women registered voters than men.

Right now the girls are riled. They're going into action on all fronts, stumping for their favorite candidates, often ignoring party lines to support men who hold out the promise of reform and integrity in government.

Women could hold the balance of power in the coming elections, says Mrs. Joseph W. Mann of Detroit, past national president of the ladies' auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars. She adds:

"This year VFW auxiliary members are taking a more active part than ever before in politics, working through local and state organizations. Though the organization is, of course, non-partisan, we urge members to work through the parties of their choice."

Membership in the league of women voters is growing by leaps and bounds, says Margot Gayle, the organization's New York spokesman, who points out:

"Look at the committee working for each of the major presidential candidates right now, and you'll see a great many women of real stature in social and economic circles throwing all their energies into the campaigns. These are sophisticated and experienced women leaders whose efforts are not only enthusiastic, but also effective."

As to the question of a woman candidate for President, Mrs. Gayle says:

"When we've had enough qualified women make a success of public service and political leadership, I imagine the country will take the idea of a woman president in stride."

Students Aid U. S. Diplomacy

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1951, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON — Twenty years ago, if you had told an American diplomat that the school children of the United States would be taking an active part in American diplomacy, he would have thought you were crazy.

Nevertheless, several thousand high school and primary students today are doing exactly that. They have written messages to their fellow students in other countries which are being broadcast every day over the Voice of America in the following languages: Russian, Bulgarian, Czech, Finnish, Korean, Japanese, Yugoslav, German, Arabic, Hebraic, Indonesian, Hungarian, Thai, Italian, Burmese and French.

In many cases these student messages are a lot more appealing, more sincere, more genuine than the skilled propaganda of the high powered specialist. They should have real impact on people behind the Iron Curtain, because those who hear them will recognize that they are from the heart, that they come from young Americans who have no ax to grind, who want to get along with other people.

In Orlando, Florida, for instance, one of the winners is a Negro boy, Bobby Hightower, who has written this message:

"I live in America, the land of the free. I love and cherish this country, not just because I was born here or because I feel that the American way of life is perfect. I love it simply because it is the land of the free. . . . My religious beliefs are not the same as my neighbors, but I worship as I please; my neighbors worship as they please. Yet we're the best of friends. Soon, I will enter college. There it is my privilege to follow the career and occupation of my choice. . . .

"I love America and I'm willing to shed blood to preserve our liberties, our freedoms, our opportunities. . . . "

Refuting Moscow's Lies

This from a southern American city is a lot different from the constant yammering of the Moscow radio that the favorite sport of American cities on Sunday is lynching Negroes. When I was in France last month, I learned unfortunately that even some of the French people have swallowed these lies.

Bobby Hightower's message will be recorded by him personally at the Voice of America in New York today; for the patriotic people of Orlando have paid his expenses to New York, together with the other Florida winner, Ken Melrose of the Cherokee Junior High School, who wrote an inspiring appeal for removing the Iron Curtain.

"You see, we could have fun if you could just come over the Iron Curtain," he wrote. "I'll bet we like the same things most kids do. If we could just be friends, we wouldn't worry about wars because you don't fight your friend. Let's be friends."

Other young authors of winning messages are coming to New York today from various parts of the country, among them another Negro boy, Booker T. Washington of Wichita, Kan., which also may be a shock to Moscow. They will broadcast direct to Russia, see New York, and appear on radio and TV programs Sunday evening.

There are a lot of other winners; also several thousand other youngsters, who, while not winning prizes in their areas, wrote beautiful and inspiring letters which are being beamed around the world in 16 languages every day.

To have your letter picked for translation into 16 languages is in itself an honor. However, the Voice of America can use a great many more of these letters, so schools should continue sending them in. They can be not only a patriotic contribution to the nation, but many teachers have found them a stimulant to clear classroom thinking about the ideals of the USA.

Amazed Mr. Morse

When Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon heard the extravagant claims to presidential power made by government attorney Holmes Baldridge in the steel dispute, he remarked:

"How did that guy ever get that job?"

"You recommended him," promptly replied Ivar Peterson, Morse' former administrative assistant, now on the National Labor Relations board.

"It's impossible," remonstrated Morse.

"Okay, I'll show you the evidence," replied Peterson and fished out of the files a copy of a letter Morse had written the Whtie House endorsing Baldridge as assistant attorney general.

Note — Baldridge has had a good record as a trust-buster, argued one important case for the government against General Motors, which he won.

Washington Pipeline

Elliott Roosevelt, son of the late President, and Ed Rivers, Jr., son of the ex-governor of Georgia, are teaming up for television in various parts of the south. There was a time when their fathers didn't get along so well together. . . . Jim McGranery, the new attorney general, will not get a free hand in reorganizing the justice department. HST has decided to pass on all justice officials himself. . . . Nine Nobel prize scientists have put the bee on Joliot-Curie, the French Communist scientist for signing a statement that the United States was using germ warfare in Korea. The American Nobel prize winners have demanded that Curie withdraw his name from the Communist message and join them in demanding a fair investigation of the charges. . . . Everybody is going in for political comic books these days. Congressman Clint McKinnon of California has published one on "The Little Giant Killer," while another is coming out soon on Eisenhower. . . . Among the first people to go thru the new White House were Columnist Leonard Lyons and his boys. They got a personally conducted tour by Mrs. Truman. . . . Secretary of the Interior Oscar Chapman got a rare tribute the other day — from a Republican. A. P. Frame, his retiring deputy oil administrator, wrote: "Now, Mr. Secretary, as a Republican, I cannot truthfully wish that you continue as Secretary of the Interior for the next presidential term, but I can most sincerely say that I hope, for the good of the country, the next Secretary of the Interior will be a man with your integrity, courage and administrative ability."

Silver Art Faces Bankruptcy

JOGJAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—The world-famous silver art industry in this Central Java town is facing bankruptcy for lack of a market, according to reports.

About 2,000 artisans, 3 to 10 in each enterprise, have hammered a precarious living out of this specialist trade which requires years of training, a steady hand and a feeling for art.

Immediately after the war the dark-colored silver plates, cigarette cases, teaspoons and ash trays found many buyers in souvenir-hunting Dutch army troops, United Nations diplomats and military truce observers. But now that they have gone home, the tourist trade is not sufficient to keep business going.

Pastor Gets Warm Welcome

BELVIDERE, Ill. (AP)—Rev. S. L. Buchanan, new pastor of the First Baptist Church, figures a fire in the church is too much of a warm welcome.

A serious fire was averted by a passerby who noticed smoke coming from the building. Fireman put out the blaze that started in the coal bin.

The Rev. Buchanan was installed as pastor the following Sunday.

Alias Basil Willing

By Helen McCloy

Copyright 1951 by Helen McCloy Dresser, printed through permission of the publishers, Random House, Inc. Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Dr. Basil Willing has been talking to suspects in the murder of Jack Duggan, private detective, who was poisoned while posing as Basil at a dinner party given by Dr. Zimmer, a psychiatrist. Willing, also a psychiatrist, had followed Duggan to Zimmer's place because Duggan had been posing as Basil Willing. Duggan dies before he can tell why. The next morning an aged blind woman, Miss Katherine Shaw, who also was at the party, is found dead. In questioning her nephew Brinsley, Basil is told that Duggan may have been poisoned because someone thought he was really Dr. Willing.

"THE Lawrences happen to be friends of mine," said Rosamund Yorke. "It was I who recommended Max to Perdita. And Stephen isn't really a recluse. He's here somewhere this afternoon. Would you like to see him? I know he'd enjoy meeting you."

Rosamund darted toward a group near one of the windows. "Stephen! Do let me interrupt for a moment. There's a friend of mine here whom I'd like you to meet."

Basil had spent too much time in hospitals not to see at a glance that Stephen Lawrence was a man chronically ill. He had the winnowed look of someone who endures pain. It wasn't altogether a matter of frail body, sunken cheeks, thinning hair and faded blue eyes. It wasn't even the lightness of his breathing, the slowness of his motions and the gentleness of his manner. It was rather his singularly sweet-tempered smile and his look of detached serenity. He was like paper which has burned away so slowly that the dead ash retains the shape of solidity yet actually is so fragile that it will crumble to dust at the first touch.

* * *

THE two men had hardly exchanged a greeting when Yorke came back with Manhattans and new arrivals claimed Rosamund's attention.

"Rosamund does like to pretend people are chessmen to be pushed around and made to play her game for her, but she needn't have bothered this time. I know all about it."

"All about what?"

"Duggan. When we left Zimmer's last night Rosamund came home, but I went on to the Stardust Club. I've got insomnia, so I spend a little time at the club every night after midnight to see how things are going. Zimmer called me there after you and the inspector left him."

"Why?" ventured Basil.

Yorke shrugged. "I'm supposed to have influence."

"Why didn't he call Canning?"

"He did. Zimmer is thorough. I told him even Canning can't control the papers. Zimmer is sure the Duggan business has nothing to do with him and he's afraid it will hurt his practice."

The red of Rosamund's painted cheeks and lips caught Basil's eye. She was talking to Gisela on the other side of the room. Basil thought of the vampire legend—the "living dead," refreshed and rosy when they are gorged with the blood of the living.

The gathering had reached high tide sometime ago. Now it was ebbing and in a few minutes there were only two other guests left besides the Willings — Stephen Lawrence and a girl. Only then did Basil recognize her as Lawrence's daughter, Perdita.

She wore wine-red velvet that brought out the pastel delicacy of her coloring—silvery blonde hair, apple blossom skin, but there was something wanting in her prettiness. The pink mouth was too soft, the mouth of a sleeper or a child. The eyes were too empty of all interest in the world around her. Her manner was charming—quiet without a trace of shyness. No doubt a product of elaborate training and expensive education. Intellectually she could have been 25 or 30, but physically and emotionally she was like an enlarged child rather than a grown-up young woman.

Gisela looked up at Basil with a smile. "She's been telling me the most interesting things about her work in a settlement house. She teaches painting to children after school."

"I don't teach, really!" Even Perdita's voice was immature, treble and thin. "I just hand them pieces of wrapping paper and old jam jars of poster paint and turn them loose. They have a wonderful time. The only happy time in their whole day. They hate their schools and they hate their homes. Sometimes I wonder what they will be like when they grow up."

Yorke laughed shortly. "They'll be like me. I was slum bred. Yorke is an abbreviation of some Slavic name that immigration officers couldn't spell in the nineties."

* * *

ROSAMUND had turned to Lawrence. "Did Dr. Willing tell you what happened to Duggan last night?"

"Duggan?" Lawrence was puzzled. "Who's he?"

"The little man who was announced as Dr. Willing last night at Max Zimmer's."

"He was a private detective calling himself Willing," explained Basil.

"And do you know," added Rosamund, "just a few moments after he left Max Zimmer's, this poor little man, in perfectly good health, collapsed and died?"

Perdita sprang to her feet, face paper white as only a very fair skin can be when it is drained and bloodless. "In good health, yet he—died?"

"He was poisoned by some opiate, according to the papers," said Rosamund. "Probably codeine."

"I take codeine myself," remarked Lawrence. "Almost anyone might have some."

Basil saw the whites of Perdita's eyes as her eyeballs rolled up under the lids. He caught her as her knees buckled. Gisela took the girl's head in her lap, stroked her forehead. Stephen knelt beside her, chafing the cold hands, calling his daughter's name softly.

Americans Save More Money Despite Inflation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans as individuals are saving more and more money despite inflation and heavy consumer buying, the National Savings and Loan League reported today.

It said money invested in the major types of savings agencies increased 24 percent from 1946 to the end of 1951.

At the start of this year, the league reported, individuals had 180 billion dollars invested. This is apart from commercial investments.

The biggest increase in savings over the five-year period was 88.1 per cent by savings and loans associations. With a total of $16,079,000,000 invested at the start of 1952, this type of agency rated fifth in total of money.

Life insurance companies, second in increase at 40 per cent, had the most money invesed — 57 billion dollars.

The league repored 49 billions invested in U. S. savings bonds, $36,592,000,000 in commercial banks (long term savings only), mutual savings banks $20,880,000,000 and

Oscar R. Kreutz, executive manager of the league, called the increase in individual savings "all the more remarkable because of the vast family expenditures following the release of consumer goods after World War II, and the subsequent inflation which increased family expenses."
